Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

The Masonic fraternity has a vast literature, in its early historical forms, treating of many matters to be accepted only allegorical, but when Potentate Joe Pengilly of Al Malaikah temple referred to one event which netted the organization some $12,000 which was used for crippled children work, the practical and human side of the order glistened like sunbeams in the morning dew. Participation in and promotion of philanthropic and charitable programs finds ready response from that branch of Masonry known as the Shrine.

* * *

The Ancient Arabic Order Nobles Mystic Shrine is the playground of Masonry, but it has its serious moments. Had an opportunity to observe the Orange County Shrine club in action not long ago, when it combined business with pleasure. Its mood varied from the playful to the contemplative. One moment it laughed, and another gave answer to some appeal from the stricken.

* * *

What goes on behind signs and grips and words is usually revealed in deeds. The superficial viewpoint of parade is not an index to ultimate motives. Crossing the burning sands finally brings the novitate to the oasis of human sympathy. Many a jovial appearance cloaks a troubled heart. There are times for play and times for work and times for rest and refreshment. We can do better work if there is a diversion of entertainment. So I like to see the smiles and listen to the laughter because it sort o' seems to me that it is good food to sustain one when the serious problems call for solution.

* * *

I like to see business and professional men at play. These are times when the mental current is pretty heavily taxed. If you have a fraternal outlet for such pleasure you can count yourself favored. It's healthy to fling a few good natured barbs across the table, or listen to some caustic colloquialism. You may enjoy it better if you are not a party to it.

* * *

I can't imagine a better Bedouin for the raspberry caravan than Judge Frank C. Drumm, who was unanimously selected president of the Orange County Shrine club. He can "give it and take it," so the Nobles might just as well get on their asbestos armor. According to Otto Evans, who turned the administrative affair over to Frank, the health of the Shrine is euphoria—which is good.

* * *

And then there calls for a dual service on the part of Carlyle Dennis. He's a printer but they selected him to write the minutes, and then again there may be occasions when the boys won't want him to either write or print. You know—some of that off-the-record stuff.

* * *

From where I sat it seemed to me that Carl Mock had a fatherly concern about the proceedings. He was "here" when he was needed and "there" when he wasn't needed. Having traveled the official highway Carl was able to anticipate many of the coming events. His supervision was excellent. Anyway, I felt no uneasiness as long as he was directing my motivation.

* * *

An instance of cooperation and toleration was brought out by Potentate Joe Pengilly, when he related the equal distribution of profits from a combined entertainment, between the Shrine, the Elks, the Catholic and Jewish organizations, to be used for welfare work by the several participating bodies. All the world's akin when it comes to the alleviation of human distress, and a generous response comes from fraternal bodies.

Still alert but not so active, was that old veteran of many a ceremonial, Otto Haan, who has traveled not only the sands but the

FR Demands Big War Chest

800 Million Asked As Safety Measure In Congress Talk

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to authorize millions of new expenditures on the navy's fighting force and army's land defenses to bolster armaments he termed "inadequate for purposes of national security."

Outstanding among the President's requests for armed "protection" based "not on aggression but on defense" was a 20 per cent increase in the navy building program. Navy officials estimated the cost would be $800,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt also recommended spending $17,330,000 for betterment of the army, including $8,800,000 for aircraft material.

The program he outlined calls for building two additional battleships and two additional cruisers during the calendar year 1938. Mr. Roosevelt estimated, in discussing the message at his press conference, that the cost of entire new long-range program would be $29,200,000 during the fiscal year that begins next July 1.

PROFITLESS WAR

The President coupled to his request for better national defense a recommendation that congress provide for taking the profits out of war and for "the equalization of burdens of possible war."

He said he recommended increased armaments "specifically and solely because of the piling up of additional land and sea armaments in other countries, in such manner as to involve a threat to world peace and security."

"The government knows," he asserted, "that for many years this government has sought in many capitals with the leaders of many governments to find a way to limit and reduce armaments and to establish at least the possibility of world peace.

EFFORTS CONTINUE

"The congress is aware also that while these efforts, supported by the hopes of the American people, continue and will continue they have nevertheless failed up to the present time."

"It is with the deepest regret," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that I report to you that armaments increase today at an unprecedented and

END OF HOT, DRY SPELL IN SIGHT

Dewpoint Duck Preens Self for Downpour

Rain Sunday.

Orange county growers today stopped worrying about the protracted dry, hot spell that indicated danger to crops and increased costs in irrigation.

Albert Marmaduke Dewpoint, the duck, cast a speculative weather eye heavenward, donned his rubbers and quacked: "Rain Sunday. Rain tomorrow, too, if you're not careful. Anyway, rain."

Then Dewpoint went out to find a puddle to paddle in.

He was backed up by the government meteorological service in Los Angeles, which announced without trepidation that the county's sunny skies were due to smooch up and rain any time within the next 24 hours.

Horticulturists of Southern California welcomed the announcement. Buds and blossoms have appeared prematurely in orchards of several sections, it was pointed out, leaving them in a precarious condition for possible light frosts, and making for a possible immature crop.

Citrus trees also are budding ahead of time. Flowers are prematurely in bloom and vegetables are far ahead of their season.

Weather continued warm today, with yesterday's high temperature tipping 77 degrees. Day before yesterday's 82 was a record high mark for January.

Policeman Dies In Holdup Fight

NEW YORK. (AP)—One policeman was shot to death and another policeman and a holdup man wounded today in a pistol fight which followed robbery of a Bronx pawnshop.

Sergt. David Kilpatrick was mortally wounded when he and another officer, answering a radio alarm, encountered two men hurrying out of the pawnshop. The men opened fire and the policemen responded. Goth gunmen were captured.

Holy Land Jew Faces Hanging

JERUSALEM. (AP)—The Haifa criminal assizes today pronounced the first death sentence for a Jew in Palestine since 1929 when it decreed hanging for Policeman Mordecai Schwartz for the murder of an Arab policeman.

Heavy police convoys, meanwhile, guarded parties of tourists, including Americans, bound for holy places.

FUNDS ASKED TO BATTLE '3RD POWER'

Tokyo Leaders Hint Spread of War Plans

TOKYO. (AP)—The war with China has reached so critical a stage, War Minister General Gen Sugiyama told the nation's parliament today, that Japan must now "prepare for a country other than China." Replying to a flurry of questioning by diet members, the general urged for the second time within a week that an increased army be thrown into the conflict.

He acknowledged that "the current incident gradually is assuming greater proportions and the situation is rapidly becoming more grave."

"Foreign supplies are entering China through Mongolia, Canton and Indo-China," he said. "I believe the volume is considerable, but accurate figures are unobtainable.

ARMY HOLDS KEY

"In any event, the imperial army holds the key to settlement. Taking warning of experiences obtained through the Chinese incident, and also to cope with this new situation developing, I believe the army forces must be increased.

"The question has been asked if it will be necessary to strengthen the army after termination of the incident. We are mapping plans carefully to meet all contingencies."

And, he concluded, "Since Japan must fight a long-term war with China, we must prepare for a country other than China."

The minister did not specify the power he had in mind. Russia,

RISE IN BEET WAGE FOUGHT

Beet growers of Orange county today continued their protests against proposed wage increases for pickers, in the second day of hearings before Otis K. Mulliken, agricultural economist of Washington, in Los Angeles.

City Treasurer Walter J. Pollard of Tustin, Santa Ana district representative of the Southern California Beet Growers' association, testified that the wages now paid in the industry are as high as the growers can afford.

Working conditions in Southern California, and living costs here are lower than in the northern section of the state, Pollard contended when he was asked if there was any reason why sugar beet growers in Southern California could not pay the same wages as in northern California.

The hearing is one of 12 being conducted throughout the country to regulate and equalize wages and costs under the national sugar act of 1937.

HART MINE INCORPORATED

Mark Hart's fabulously wealthy graphite mine, discovered last fall near Big Bear lake, went into the hands of a corporation today, with Hart and four other men as directors.

Articles of incorporation for the Big Bear Graphite company were filed in the county clerk's office, setting capitalization of the firm at $200,000.

A. A. Beard, county road superintendent, of 1508 West Tenth street, John Regan of Fullerton, M. H. Hilton, assayer of 1903 North Main street, and Oscar J. Seiler, Long Beach attorney, are other members of the board of directors.

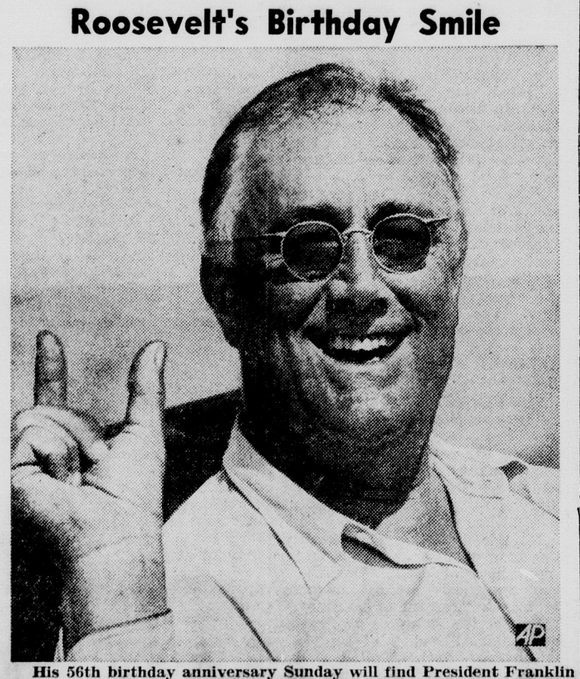
BRIDGE BIDS SET FEB. 11

Bids for the construction of a bridge across the Santa Ana river about a mile north of Olive will be opened in Los Angeles Feb. 11, the state highway department announced today.

The construction will be undertaken as a part of the state's $50,000,000 biennial program for Southern California, which will end in 1938.

Recently state engineers announced that bids would be called "very shortly" for replacing the narrow Glassell street bridge with a wider structure.

Roosevelt's Birthday Smile



His 56th birthday anniversary Sunday will find President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in excellent physical condition, his personal physician said today. The chief executive was looking forward to many birthday festivities today, after giving congress his armament message his morning.

CHINA LOSES LEAGUE HOPE

GENEVA. (AP)—China's hopes for strong league of nations action against Japan apparently were dashed today.

Authoritative sources said China's delegate, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, was told that if he pressed his request for action before the current council meeting China might win a moral victory but the final effect would be further weakening of the league and no practical benefit to China.

Dr. Koo was closeted for more than two hours with Anthony Eden, Yvon Delbos and Maxim Litvinoff, foreign ministers respectively of Great Britain, France and Russia.

The meeting was called when Dr. Koo informed the spokesmen of the three powers, all of which voted for the league resolution which denounced Japan, that he planned another urgent appeal for help.

Plan to Replace Niagara Bridge

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A new and greater "honeymoon bridge" was planned at Niagara Falls today even as the gaunt skeleton of the old bridge which crashed yesterday continued to groan and settle into the ice-covered river.

The International Railway company, owners of the fallen span, announced that architects will be asked at once to design a new and finer bridge.

CRANSTON BATTLE ENDS

Fireworks which have burst about the head of J. A. Cranston, former Santa Ana superintendent of schools, died down today as Cranston was relieved as guardian of an 80-year-old woman whose accounts, in Cranston's hands, were found $200 short two months ago.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel settled Cranston's final account, denied a petition for his ouster overruled objections, and directed him to turn over funds of the woman to Emil Valentine of Webster City, Ia., her brother and new guardian.

Mrs. Sophie Girardelly, whose property Cranston has been managing for the past several years, has moved to Iowa. Her daughter, Esther Rasmussen, has waged a bitter fight for Cranston's removal as guardian, and her attorneys disclosed earlier that Cranston had mingled funds of the estate with his own personal checking account, which had been overdrawn. Cranston, who claimed other funds were in a safety deposit box, put the money in another account under court order.

Harry Warton, attorney for Mrs. Rasmussen, introduced annuity checks into evidence today showing Cranston had endorsed several of them. Cranston, however, presented receipts from Mrs. Girardelly, and Judge Scovel the account.

LEWIS GUARD PLAN APPROVED

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The United Mine workers convention shouted approval today of John L. Lewis' proposal to keep the National Guard out of labor disputes.

Lewis said he would ask congrees to enact legislation to withdraw federal funds from any state guard called out for use in a strike.

The convention also approved the financial report for the last two years which showed that the union's war chest had increased from $2,298,021 to $2,534,668 despite "especially large" expenses.

The convention approved Lewis' proposal for legislation to prohibit the federal government from buying anything from an employer cited by the labor relations board for violation of the Wagner labor disputes act.

LUNATIC KILLS NINE

HELSINGFORS, Finland. (AP)—Nine persons were burned to death in a municipal lodging house fire, kindled by a lunatic woman inmate, in Ylane parish, South Finland.

NAG IS CACHED IN CAN

Horse Thieves Loot Hidden

The rootin' tootin' West—where hoss thieves were dogged by outraged posses—echoed here today as an old-fashioned game of "cops and robbers" crashed to a climax in which the "cops" won and the "robbers" finally learned it wasn't a game.

Two 17-year-old boys were jailed as horse thieves yesterday and will be turned over to juvenile authorities later today.

The stolen horse, meanwhile, has been put in cans and may be served to your pet dog any day now.

Theft of a horse from G. U. Straw's pasture in Trabuco canyon last Saturday was cleared up when the two boys were arrested and admitted catching the animal, loading it into a trailer and taking it the Dr. Ross' dog-food factory in Los Alamitos.

There they sold the beast for $16.75, giving a fictitious name and address on the bill of sale.

Disappearance of the horse was discovered early this week, and Straw set Poundmaster Harold Pickering on the trail. Pickering checked at the Dr. Ross' plant, where officials reported the purchase, and found Straw's brand on the animal's hide which, together with the hooves, had been laid aside as "by-products."

Subsequent arrest of the two youths on grand theft charges also cleared up several cases of gas thefts from county trap wagons, deputy sheriffs reported after the youths assertedly had confessed to those thefts as well.

Santa Ana Unit Now In Charge Of Long Beach Office

Dan Mulherron was out today as Orange county director of the WPA.

J. F. Johnson, chief engineer of the southern division, with offices at Long Beach, will be in charge of the office hereafter. Appointment of an engineer to assist him with his work will be made later.

No further change is to be made in the office of the administrative offices of the WPA, according to Johnson.

ASKED FOR LEAVE

Mulherron applied recently for a leave of absence from his position, Johnson said. He had an accumulation of vacation days due him, but yesterday afternoon as he was leaving his office he bade co-workers "good-bye."

Miss Angie Le Gakes, Mulherron's secretary, said this morning she has applied for a leave of absence, but had nothing to say when asked if she intended to quit her position.

Johnson denied undercurrent rumors that Long Beach and Los Angeles men are taking over the work of Orange county men and women on the works projects here. He said at present there are only two Long Beach men working in this territory. One of them is an engineer and the other a chief timekeeper. Both are here to instruct local employes in reorganizing the system instituted since the Long Beach office took over the activities of the San Diego headquarters several months ago, according to Johnson

'IMPERSONAL'

He added that all workers hired in Orange county are taken from the rolls in this vicinity in an "impersonal manner."

The women's and professional division of the WPA, separated last December from the construction department, remained unaffected from change today. The headquarters in Los Angeles is the office over the local officials.

COURT RULE MAY DECIDE WEST'S FATE

Vote Required for Ouster Up to Judge

A ruling by a superior judge here may determine the official fate of N. E. West, supervisor from Laguna Beach, who today was preparing his defense to ouster proceedings brought Wednesday by the grand jury.

Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton said today the judge who hears the jury trial of corrupt misconduct charges against West probably will decide whether a 9-to-3 or a unanimous verdict will be necessary to decide the case.

West has denied the charges, including allegations he solicited bribes of $200 and $1000, hampered work of keeping peace during the 1936 citrus strike, and made false and malicious statements against county officials. Nothing but "perjured testimony" possibly could convict him, he claims.

The majority necessary for conviction, Menton explained, is not clearly defined by law. During the Recorder Justine Whitney ouster two years ago Judge G. K. Scovel ruled a unanimous verdict was necessary, and said misconduct had to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. Other authorities believe a mere preponderance of evidence and a 9-to-3 verdict would be sufficient.

CHECK SUSPECT ARRAIGNED

Warner M. Mahlum, 35, extradited from Yakima, Wash., early this week to face grand theft and fictitious check charges in Orange county, was returned to the county jail here last night by Deputy Sheriff James Musick.

Charged with theft of $485 in an asserted fake automobile sale last spring, Mahlum was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison today. His preliminary hearing was scheduled for 10 a. m. Feb. 3, and bail was set at $2500. After his arraignment in Santa Ana justice court, he was to be taken before Judge D. J. Dodge in Costa Mesa, where he will face charges of issuing fictitious checks in Newport Beach.

ROSS KIDNAP FIGURE BURIED

PROVIDENCE, Ky. (AP) — A grave near those of his parents was made ready today for James Atwood Gray, 19, asserted accomplice of John Henry Seadlund in the kidnaping of Charles R. Ross, wealthy Chicagoan.

Funds raised by public subscription in Gray's home town made possible the return of his body yesterday from Spooner, Wis., where Seadlund, also known as Peter Anders, told federal bureau of investigation agents he kidnaped Ross and then slew Gray to avoid having to split the $50,000 ransom with him. Seadlund denies killing Ross, claiming Ross died of natural causes.

CIVIL SERVICE DRIVE OPENS

Expected to press plans for an extension of civil service to all city departments, 150 employes of the City of Santa Ana formed an association last night.

Bill Garvin, license collector, was named president at the meeting, held in the city council chambers with councilmen present. Mayor Fred Rowland and Councilman Ernest Layton gave brief talks.

By-laws and the constitution will be presented at the group's next meeting, set for Feb. 9. Other officers are Gene Heiss, street inspector, first vice president; Capt. W. C. Fox of the fire department, second vice president; and Mrs. Ruby Bush of the auditor's office, secretary-treasurer.

BRIDGES HALTS HARBOR WORK

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—CIO longshormen were called from the docks for a five-hour period today to attend a strike-plan mass meeting in Wilmington bowl.

Cargo operations on approximately 20 ships were affected by the "stop work" order, in force from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Harry Bridges, West Coast chief of the CIO, was expected here from San Francisco to address the longshoremen on their course of action if a superior court order next Wednesday places an American Federation of Labor receiver in charge of the union hiring hall.

Whitnall Named City Planner

Gordon Whitnall, Los Angeles authority on city planning, will be planning counsellor for Santa Ana, Mayor Fred Rowland disclosed early this afternoon at a meeting of the Santa Ana realty board.

RAMPANT VICE IN L. A. TOLD IN POLICE BOMBING PROBE

ACCUSATIONS MOUNT AS FITTS ACTS

Mining Man Tells of Alleged 'Manhandling'

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Testimony concerning vice, gambling and corruption in the city was taken behind closed doors today by the state assembly interim coordinating committee from witnesses who said they feared reprisals.

"We have been given direct evidence of payoffs, gambling and prostitution in the Central avenue district," said William Moseley Jones, committee chairman and speaker of the assembly. "The information will be used to make other witnesses tell what they know."

One witness told, he said, of a police officer "tipping off" occupants of a place before the raiding officers arrived.

The committee heard startling testimony from a lawyer, John C. Packard, that Earle Kynette, police captain charged with attempted murder in the Harry Raymond bombing, had terrorized and intimidated a client, inducing him to drop a suit against Police Chief Davis and the city.

The client, John Langan, mining engineer, sued because of his arrest by the Los Angeles border patrol which in 1936 was preventing indigent transients from entering the state.

Threats were made, said Packard, that Langan's wife would be sent to an insane asylum, or that she would be deported, and later she was deporter to South America.

"Chief Davis publicly thanked Kynette for his good work in getting the suit dismissed," Packard testified, "and promoted him from a lieutenant to the rank of captain."

FITTS SEEKS MORE KYNETTE EVIDENCE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—With Acting Police Capt. Earle Kynette under $15,000 bond on a charge of attempted murder in the Harry Raymond bombing, Dist. Atty. Buron Fitts sought further evidence today which he said might link him with other bombings.

The attempt to assassinate the private detective "is not the only crime for which Kynette is being investigated," said Fitts. He is suspected of bombing other persons. We have evidence that witnesses have been tampered with."

Raymond at times has made investigations for the citizens' independent vice investigating committee. The home of Clifford Clinton, crusading member of the 1937 county grand jury and head of this committee, was bombed recently, as was the apartment of Linden Foster, publisher.

Two John Does were named in the complaint with Kynette, who was head of the police intelligence squad. The officer was suspended by Police Chief James E. Davis at his own request. His preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 14.

Bits of metal from the bomb are still being removed from Raymond's body.

Otto took a friendly and sympathetic interest in my welfare, aided and abetted by Dr. Fred Earel, and "Mac" McCallen from Huntington Beach. Three roller skating artists, whose thrilling gyrations defied the laws of gravitation, took Dr. Doty for a swing. Doc confided to me later that he came out of the ordeal with a different stomach than he went in with. I can appreciate his sensations. One time when Crocket Bowers, Mit Phillips and Ed Parker were embarking on a trip to Honolulu, I yielded to a sympathetic impulse and went to Wilmington to see the boat start, and about the time it left the pier my stomach went with it.

Fred Timm offered me his fez, but when I put it on no one knew I was there. However, it was a nice, friendly gesture.

After an evening with the Orange County Shrine club, nice dinner and superlative entertainment, I followed the national administrative "recessional," and thumbed a ride home, enriched by a larger fellowship, and more firmly convinced than ever that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." So don't put all your eggs in one workbasket."

DUCK DINNER

President Fred Merker and Secretary Howard Wood of the chamber of commerce received invitations today to attend the annual duck dinner in the dining room of the Orange Show building at San Bernardino, Feb. 4.

IMMIGRANT ARREST

Miguel Mendez, 45, 1823 West First street, Santa Ana, was jailed here yesterday on a charge of violating the federal immigration act.

Balboa Resident Called by Death

Frank Nicholas Horn, 77, of 211 Agate avenue, Balboa Island, died last night in a Long Beach hospital. He had been a resident of the harbor district for the past eight years.

Mr. Horn was a lifetime employe of the Fleischman Yeast company, having occupied a high position with that organization at one time.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mable C. Horn, and a daughter, Dorothy Marie Horn of Topeka, Kans. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Dixon Chapel, Costa Mesa.

alarming rate. It is an ominous fact that at least one-fourth of the world's population is involved in merciless devastating conflict in spite of the fact that most people in most countries, including those where conflict rages, wish to live at peace.

"Armies are fighting in the Far East and in Europe; thousands of civilians are being driven from their homes and bombed from the air."

PRINCIPLES DISCARDED

Mr. Roosevelt said it was necessary to realize that the "unfortunate world conditions of today have resulted too often in the discarding of those principles and treaties which underlie international law and order; and in the entrance of many new factors into the actual conduct of war."

"Adequate defense means," he said, "that for the protection not only of our coasts but also of our communities far removed from the coast, we must keep any potential enemy many hundred miles away from our continental limits.

"We cannot assume that our defense would be limited to one ocean and one coast and that the other ocean and the other coast would with certainty be safe.

PANAMA CANAL

"We cannot be certain that the connecting link — the Panama canal—would be safe. Adequate defense affects therefore the simultaneous defense of every part of the United States of America.

With these factors in mind, the President recommended specifically:

1. That there be authorized for the army of the United States additions to anti-aircraft material in the sum of $8,800,000, and that of this sum $6,800,000 be appropriated for the fiscal year 1939.

2. That there be authorized and appropriated for the better establishment of an enlisted reserve for the army the sum of $450,000.

ARMY AIDES

3. That there be authorized the expenditure of $6,080,000 for the manufacture of gauges, dies and other aids to manufacture of army material, the sum of $5,000,000 thereof to be expended during the fiscal year 1939.

4. That the sum of $2,000,000 be authorized and appropriated toward the making up of deficiencies in ammunition for the army.

5. That the existing authorized building program for increases and replacements in the navy be increased by 20 per cent.

TWO BATTLESHIPS

6. That this congress authorize and appropriate for the laying down of two additional battleships and two additional cruisers during the calendar year 1938. This will call for the expenditure of a very small amount of government funds during the fiscal year 1939.

7. That the congress authorize and appropriate a sum not to exceed $15,000,000 for the construction of a number of new types of small vessels, such construction to be regarded as experimental in the light of new developments among navies; and to include the preparation of plans for other types of ships in the event that it may be necessary to construct such ships in the future.

England Nabs Two as 'Spies'

LONDON. (AP)—Two men accused under Britain's official secrets acts were refused bail and remanded for six days to Bow street jail today amid unusual secrecy.

The charge, described by the prosecutor as "serious," involves the alleged act of obtaining four official blueprints which might "be useful to the enemy." The men's names were given as P. E. Glading, 45, and Albert Williams, 39. Other information was withheld, pending a hearing.

Jail or Kansas For Check Passer

Edward L. Thomas, who pleaded guilty to a $171.60 bad check charge, will spend the next six months in jail, looking forward to a trip to Kansas.

Thomas must return to Kansas when he gets out of jail, Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen decreed today, provided a sponsor can be found for him in that state. His probation period will last five years.

The check assertedly was given Jan. 7 to Howard Caldwell, Orange auto salesman.

LOSES FINGERS

ROTAN, Tex. (AP)—Ardis Murphey, 17, sat at his high school desk and picked idly with a pin at a small object he had found.

JAPS START RUSSIA WAR CAMPAIGN

through a Tass official news agency dispatch from Hankow, last month acknowledged sending war material to china, emphasizing that Japanese reports exaggerated extent of the shipments.

Sugiyama emphasized the need for more planes. The Russian party paper, Pravda, upon successful completion of two flights from Moscow to the American Pacific coast, six months ago warned Russia's "enemies" that their capitals were within easy range of Soviet war planes. Foreign observers believed the editorial pointed toward Berlin and Tokyo, both anti-communist and within 800 miles of Soviet air bases.

In Shanghai today a Japanese naval spokesman presented first evidence to indicate a Russian was piloting Chinese planes, displaying a blood-stained map of China with Russian characters written thereon.

NAVAL STRENGTH

Naval Minister Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai strengthened the Sugiyama appeal in a speech urging naval strength.

Referring to reports of French, British and American naval building, Yonai said:

"Japan cannot permit other nations to become superior in this manner. If third powers embark on armament expansion on a large scale, we intend to carry out rapid expansion."

Japan's present budget estimates of around $1,800,000,000 for the current year, with previous appropriations, would bring to approximately $3,000,000,000 the cost of the first year and a half of the China war which began last July. The tentative budget figures were announced yesterday.

ALLISON APOLOGY MERELY 'COURTESY'

SHANGHAI. (AP)—A Japanese military spokesman declared today the Japanese sentry who slapped the face of John M. Allison, ranking United States diplomat, at Nanking, was "only doing his duty" and would not be punished.

He added that anyone disobeying orders of a Japanese sentry could be shot, and said that an apology tendered to Allison merely was a "gesture of courtesy."

Earlier the Japanese spokesman had said Allison, third secretary in charge of the United States embassy, had adopted what Japanese regarded as an "insolent attitude" and that Japanese authorities were taking a serious view of his actions.

Asked to give specific instances of what he considered "insolence" on Allison's part, the spokesman asserted a Japanese military policeman attempted to ride on the running board of Allison's automobile on Jan. 25, and Allison tried to put him off, calling him "an imbecile."

BRITONS SEE MOCK AIR RAID

LEICESTER, Eng. (AP) — Big bombers roared over this city in a "blackout" anti-air raid test in the dark and early hours this morning, but all was spoiled by the blinking lights of a shopkeeper's gay signboard.

The test committee finally located the sign, easily visible from the air, as the two-hour "raid" was being concluded. A faulty switch was the cause.

Geoffrey Lloyd, home office under-secretary who has been studying German anti-air raid methods, rode in one of the bombers.

Bates Changes Firm Name

M. E. Bates, prominent local business man, in order to better coordinate the name and nature of his business, announces that he has changed the name of his firm from the Orange County Cabinet company to the Furniture Service company. At the same time Bates announces the addition of a carpet department. George Wimsatt, formerly with Ludlum's, Chandler's, the Map company and Barker Brothers, will head this new division.

Carpet cleaning, sizing and the laying of carpets will be specialized.

The Furniture Service company is located at 1732 West Fifth street.

SALINAS RULES GAMES LEGAL

SALINAS. (AP)—District Attorney Anthony Brazil ruled yesterday that theater games of chance as operated in Monterey county were "perfectly legal."

Brazil expressed his opinion in reply to critcisms of his office for alleged failure to enforce the law against illegal games conducted by theaters.

"As long as they are operated as at present there is nothing I can do about it," said Brazil. "In order to be illegal, games would have to be run like lotteries, with three factors of prize, chance and consideration."

Brazil said consideration was the factor absent in the theater method.

POSTOFFICE PROBES "BANK NIGHT" GAME

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Emmett Thurmon, general counsel for a Denver "bank night" firm, denied at a postoffice department hearing yesterday that bank nights violate the postal lottery laws.

The hearing was ordered by Solicitor Karl A. Crowley to determine whether Affiliated Enterprises, Inc., of Denver, should be denied the use of the mails.

Prior to Thurmon's testimony, 17 postal inspectors described bank night operations throughout the nation. All had participated in drawnings, they said, but none had ever won. Inspector N. N. Edwards of San Francisco said that an audit of the corporation's books disclosed a gross income of approximately $1,250,000 in two years.

BOARD TO END CANAL SMELLS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The city attorney and the board of health were under instructions today to take all steps to abate foul gases and odors arising from canals in Venice.

The city council took action yesterday after members had declared the air in the vicinity of the canals is so foul that it had caused the death of canaries.

Measures suggested included drainage of the canals and artificial flooding to remove the source of the contamination.

PRODUCER ILL

HOLLYWOOD. (AP) — Stricken with influenza, John W. Considine, jr., film producer, was confined to his bed today. The producer was forced to cancel plans to fly to New York last night with his wife, the former Carmen Pantages.

PASADENA. (AP) — An alleged "Christmas burglar," charged by police with committing more than 100 thefts during the last Yuletide season, was held for trial in superior court under $10,000 bond. He is Elbert McCay, 56.

PASSION PLAY SET SUNDAY

Robert DeuPree and Lysa Ayer, prominent Santa Ana thespians, will present their English version of the Oberammergau Passion Play in the First Methodist church Sunday evening. A cast of 20 will assist in presenting the play, which will be the only local appearce of the pair this year.

DeuPree and Miss Ayer, formerly stock players in several Eastern cities, acquired the English rights to the Passion Play four years ago, to use until its next Oberammergau presentation in 1940. Since then they have presented it in churches of 83 American cities, including a run of 12 weeks in the Broadway tabernacle in New York.

Harry Layton, Arthur Casey and Bruce Buell are other local actors in the cast.

WILLARD HIGH AIDS TRAVEL

Featuring a new series of travel aid lectures, the second semester of the Lathrop and Willard Evening High schools will open Monday, Director Golden Weston of the adult education department announced today.

Calvin Flint and T. H. Glenn of the Santa Ana Junior college will lecture in the new course. Mrs. Julia Ann Hyde, local representative of a travel bureau, will furnish motion pictures to be used in connection with the lectures.

First in the series will be given Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Willard auditorium, with Dean Flint as speaker. He will discuss possible itineraries, various means of travels, and economies possible. The series will be open to the public.

Hi-Y Juniors Elect Officers

Two junior Hi-Y groups elected officers last night.

The new leaders of the Lathrop group are: Louis Mallars, president; Sidney Carr, vice president; George Rousons, secretary-treasurer and Bud Dale, sergeant-at-arms.

Willard officers are: Harry Harlow; Milford B. Creblos, vice president; Ted Finster, secretary-treasurer and Joel Hayes, sergeant-at-arms.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Ill feeling against Japanese in the United States was deplored today in a resolution by the Los Angeles Episcopal diocese conference. The conference urged all Christians to befriend the Japanese inhabitants of this country.

PRESBYTERIANS MEET TONIGHT

Community night will be observed at the First Presbyterian church tonight as a part of "Dedication Week" activities when civic leaders join churchmen in a program in the new church at 7:30 o'clock.

T. E. Stephenson will speak. R. B. Newcom will represent the service club organizations. The Cantando club under the direction of Benjamin Edwards will furnish music.

A reception will be held in Fellowship hall following the service with ladies of the 25-35 club of the church as hostesses, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland announced. Miss Anna May Archer will have charge of the musical program. Activities will close Sunday afternoon when the new $75,000 church is formally dedicated by Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, present Moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly and pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Newark, N. J.

$17,000 ASKED OF VAN COMPANY

A moving van, assertedly parked at right angles to a Sycamore street curbing last Jan. 30, today was the center of a $17,500 superior court lawsuit.

Darlene Yvonne, Barbara Jean and James C. Wylie filed the suit against the Penn Transfer and Storage company for injuries sustained by the two girls in the crash, and for the $41.09 additional for damages to Wylie's car. They allege the van was parked in violation of a city ordinance requiring parallel parking, according to the complaint, filed by Attorney Donald D. Harwood. Darlene asks $15,000 because of permanent injuries to her face, and Barbara Jean is suing for $2500 for other injuries.

Scouts to Wage Final Pin Rally

Approximately 100 Boy Scouts will conduct a final sale of pins tomorrow throughout the county in the campaign to raise funds for fighting infantile paralysis. The objective of their work will be to tag everyone not wearing the buttons.

About 1000 tickets were sold to the President's birthday ball last night held at the Valencia dance hall north of this community. Lee Mann and his orchestra furnished the music. There were several vaudevil numbers presented during the evening.

28 Wells to Start in State

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Drillers started 28 new wells in California last week, R. D. Bush, state supervisor, reported today. Principal drilling areas were Wilmington field with six new wells, Elk Hills three, Kern county three, and Santa Maria valley two.

The first three weeks of this year brought 82 new starts, compared with 90 last year. There were 22 redrilling jobs, making 49 this year against 48 last year, and 13 abandonments, for a total of 40 this year against 38 last year.

Cafe Building Suit Held Over

After two days of testimony, a $7239 suit by O. F. Fowler, Santa Ana contractor, against Dr. J. J. Jacobs was recessed yesterday afternoon until Monday in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court.

Fowler is suing Dr. Jacobs on an agreement he alleges was made between them for construction of a building to house Tony's cafe on Bush street. Dr. Jacobs, Fowler alleges, later refused to permit him to carry out the agreement. Dr. Jacobs claims Fowler's plans did not conform to building ordinance requirements.

APPEAL FOR DONATIONS ISSUED

Money Allocated to Relief Agencies

Santa Ana joined today in a nation-wide drive for funds for the relief of noncombatants in the Chinese war area, under the banner of the American Red Cross.

Dr. John Wehrly, chairman for Santa Ana, issued an appeal for aid today. He explained the money raised would be allocated to relief agencies and hospitals already existing, and that a committee of American businessmen in China, appointed by the American ambassador, would be formed to distribute the fund.

The Red Cross drive was inaugurated as a result of recommendations of President Roosevelt.

"In addition to the urgent need for food, shelter, and warm clothing, one of the great needs in China at the present time is for medical assistance," Dr. Wehrly said. "Great danger exists that epidemics may break out."

He pointed to reports from Admiral Cary T. Grayson, national Red Cross chairman, that 650,000 sick and homeless persons were crowding the International Settlement and Greater Shanghai, with many times that number scattered throughout coastal and interior cities, town and villages.

An offer of assistance to the Japanese Red Cross was made last August by the International Red Cross at Geneva, Dr. Wehrly said, but the Japanese had replied they were able to care for their own needs.

Contributions, he explained, should be left at the First National Bank with Harry L. Hanson, chapter treasurer, or at the chapter offices, 624 North Main street.

Klaam to Stage Big Beef Sale

In cooperation with the Cattlemen and Feeders Association of California and Arizona, the Broadway Meat Market, in the Grand Central will hold one of the greatest sales in their history on government inspected baby beef.

To make this sale one of the outstanding events of his career, George Klaam of the Broadway Market, made a trip to the Phoenix, Arizona plant of the Tovrea Packing company, where he personally selected a carload of government inspected prime baby beef, which has arrived at his market for the sale.

While in Phoenix, Klaam made an inspection tour of the mammouth feed yards of the Tovrea plat, where he reported 24,000 head of white faced Hereford baby beef in the feed pens at one time.

Prominent Laguna Man Passes On

NEW BUSINESS FOR BIRTHDAY

How would you like to be given $300,000 for a birthday present?

That's what happened to Rollo Hays, sr., this week. Or pretty near it, anyway. Hays returned this week from a two-weeks business trip to Florida, in time to celebrate his 58th anniversary with his family.

He was greeted by the employes of his concern, who presented him with a birthday cake, and a lei of 58 applications for policies, totaling $318,000 worth of new business, garnered in the two weeks the senior partner of the firm was away.

Hays is a member of Hays, Hudson and Bradstreet, agents for the New England Mutual Life Insurance company of Boston.

Tax Expert to Address Growers

TALK GIVEN ON VISION TESTS

Citing figures to show that as many as one third of all children in school are retarded in reading ability, S. E. Wirt, representative of the Keystone View company, manufacturers of visual tests now being used in Santa Ana schools, last night discussed tests of vision at a joint meeting of teachers, optometrists and oculists in the High School's little theater.

"From eight to 15 per cent of the school children are so retarded in reading as to be practically disabled," Wirt told the group of more than 125 persons. "Of these extreme reading problem cases, 80 per cent are of average or superior intelligence."

Functional tests for "visual cripples," he said, "are a challenge to optometrists and oculists to properly treat children for these deficiencies. Eye strain is frequently caused, he declared, when the reading load in school is increased, generally from the fourth grade on.

DANZ TALKS ON RELIGION

Hitler is just acting out the dramas of Nietzche and the music of Bach . . . southern churches don't have windows, and Gothic cathedrals aren't Christian except for the ornaments . . . only fools are modest . . . Germany does have a deligion, although it stays away from Christianity.

These ideas and a dozen more were expressed to Lion club members yesterday afternoon by Louis Danz of Anaheim, world traveler, lecturer, musician and author. His topic was "Germany's New Religion."

Danz explained the Teutonic philosophy, illustrating similarities between Germanic religion, art, music and architecture as contrasted with those of southern tries.

"With their feeling that they as a race are complete," said Danz, "they feel that Christianity, as something which reached them from the outside, was merely the trimming on their Christmas tree—they acknowledge God but deny the existence of Christology, although their religion embodies a good many of the principles of Christianity itself as a creed."

The speaker was introduced by E. M. Sundquist, program chairman.

Board Adopts School Calendar

The 1938-39 school calendar adopted by the board of education is as follows:

School opens for the fall term, 1938, on Sept. 12; Christmas holiday period from Dec. 19 to 30 with Jan. 2 being a holiday and school reopening Jan. 3; spring recess, April 3 through April 7, and school closes for the summer, June 16. Other holidays are: Nov. 11, Armistice day; Nov. 24 and 25, Thanksgiving and May 30, Decoration day.

Ranch Property Changes Hands

Orange county ranch property continues to change ownerships, according to escrows. In addition to the Hollister-Brown 13½-acre valencia orange grove, which was sold to George Rohrs through the Tuback and Cook agency for $30,000, this same agency also sold the "Jerry" Allen 10-acre walnut grove on Lincoln street to Henry Seba for $20,000, and there was recorded recently the sale of another 10 acres of walnuts for $20,- to Fred Rohrs, located on Wright street.

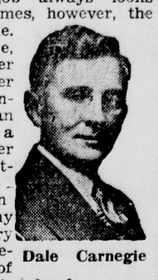
He Had Hoover Puzzled

By DALE CARNEGIE

There is an old saying that the other man's job always looks easier. Sometimes, however, the reverse is true. For example, Herbert Hoover said the other day that he wondered how a man could write a daily newspaper column year after year. Well, I have often wondered how any man could carry the killing responsibility of running the nation for four years. The answer is that when we have to do a thing, we do it. Most of us could accomplish far more than we now get done, if we had to.



Dale Carnegie

Marion Simms, 50 West Fifty-third street, New York City, is writing a book on embarrassing experiences. She has asked me to tell her about one of the most embarrassing experiences I ever had.

Here it is, Marion:

In 1910 I was traveling for Armour & Co. in South Dakota. There were very few passenger trains in South Dakota at that time, so I had to do much of my traveling in freight trains. I arrived in Redfield, one day and had to change trains. I had no customers there, so I had to "kill" a couple of hours while waiting for connections.

I had been planning to go to New York to study at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. In those days I had a mania to wear the mantle of John Drew or Lionel Barrymore. While waiting, I resolved to improve each shining moment. So I went out among the freight cars standing on the siding in the freight yards where I thought no one could see me. Then I began to rehearse scenes from Macbeth and Romeo and Juliet—rehearsed with a lot of gestures: "Is this a dagger that I see before me?"

Unfortunately, I had forgotten that the South Dakota insane asylum was located in Redfield. Presently a car pulled up, two policemen got out and commanded me to come along with them. They asked me what I meant by annoying those women.

I said, "what women? I haven't see any women; what are you talking about?"

One pointed to a couple of houses a block away. I then discovered that these women had telephoned the police saying that there was a lunatic out in the freight yards, making all kinds of fantastic gestures. They were sure that one of the inmates of the asylum had gotten loose.

The policeman insisted on taking me back, and the only thing that saved me from being locked up was a letter of credit from Armour & Co. which I carried. If it hadn't be for this evidence of my apparent sanity, the policemen would have taken me to the asylum. Maybe I won't have a letter of credit the next time.

What's the purpose of education?

Dr. John G. Hibben, who succeeded Woodrow Wilson as president of Princeton university, said that the objective of education is the ability to meet life's situations.

Have you ever asked yourself how much of the education you received in high school has helped you meet life's situation?

Junior Red Cross Work Outlined

"I AM ONE OF THE MILLIONS WHO PREFER CAMELS" SAYS RALPH GREENLEAF
WORLD'S CHAMPION IN POCKET BILLIARDS

"HEALTHY NERVES ARE A MUST WITH ME!"

FOURTEEN different times the news headlines have flashed: RALPH GREENLEAF WINS WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP. In a special interview during his recent championship play in Philadelphia, Ralph said: "I'd say the most important rule in this game is to have healthy nerves. And on that score, I think, Camels have a lot extra to offer. One of the main reasons why I've stuck to Camel cigarettes for twenty years is—they don't ruffle my nerves."

And America as a nation shows the same preference for finer tobaccos that Ralph Greenleaf does! Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America

Fencing experts, too, appreciate Camel's finer tobaccos. As BELA DE TUSCAN, the famous instructor, says: "Fencing is very tiring, and I welcome the quick 'lift' I get with a Camel."

"The way these light boats bounce around knocks the daylights out of my digestion! Camels help my digestion to keep on an even keel," says MULFORD SCULL, outboard motorboat racer.

JAMES L. CLARK, famous scientist and explorer, says: "I always carry plenty of Camels with me into the wilderness. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!' Many's the time I've done it."

HELEN HOWARD, top-flight spring-board diver, of Miami, Florida, says: "Camels don't irritate my throat—not even when I'm sitting around in a wet suit, a target for irritation."

HE IS COUNTED THE GREATEST POCKET-BILLIARD PLAYER OF ALL TIME. Here Greenleaf executes a difficult massé shot, requiring split-hair accuracy, faultless stroking, and healthy nerves. And the world's two famous masters of the cue — champion Ralph Greenleaf and the 18.1 balkline billiard champion, Willie Hoppe—are both Camel smokers.

ODDS and ENDS

By PAUL WRIGHT

Now that G. A. (Tex) Oliver has been offered a three-year contract as University of Oregon coach, Arizona officials soon will be confronted with the task of picking a successor.

There were 54 applicants for the Oregon post, and there probably will be at least 25 or 30 for the University of Arizona job.

Tucson officials, highly pleased over the success of Oliver during his five-year reign, may consider another Santa Ana coach who deserves a chance in intercollegiate company—A. J. (Bill) Cook.

Cook has been in the coaching game since 1927, and the former Trojan quarterback has spent all 11 years with our Dons. He has developed three Southern California championship elevens and one co-championship club.

Cook is prepared for a college position; if Arizona doesn't get him, some other college soon will.

Like ice hockey?

One of the best games of the season is scheduled for tomorrow night at the Polar Palace in Hollywood, where U. S. C. and Loyola tangle at 7:30 o'clock.

Offensively, the Trojans loom as the strongest team this year, but the Lions have shown superior defensive work, and they boast the most aggressive all-around player in the league in John Polich, 190-pound football star . . . Loyola recently edged out U. S. C. 3-2 in the finals of the Hoover cup tournament at Yosemite, and tomorrow night's match should be another "natural."

* * *

Merle Hapes of Garden Grove High plans to follow Brothers Ray and Clarence to the University of Mississippi, but the football and basketball star will spend at least one year at Santa Ana Jaysee, according to present plans.

* * *

The baseball profession tops all others in the matter of honesty, in the opinion of Fork Frick, National league president . . . "No baseball player has ever been graduated from the big leagues into the penitentiary," he remarks. "Out of 23,000 big league ball players over a period of 63 years, only 11 have been barred from the game because of dishonesty. No profession, including the medical and legal, can point to such a record."

Ceferino Fights On Legion Card

HOLLYWOOD. (AP) — Ceferino Garcia's bolo punch goes on display here tonight in a ten round bout with Mickey Serrian, Scranton, Pa., welterweight.

Rated the No. 1 challenger of Barney Ross, Garcia is gunning for another shot at the champion in Los Angeles this spring.

Three years ago.—Barney Ross outpointed Frankie Klick in 10-round junior welterweight "title" bout; Jay Gould, U. S. court tennis champion from 1906 to 1926, died.

Riverside vs. Citrus at Azusa.

Reversing two consecutive losses at the hands of Fullerton and Chaffery, Santa Ana Junior college's cagers upset San Bernardino's previously-unbeaten basketball club, 39 to 38, at San Bernardino last night.

The Dons sported a 22-15 advantage at the end of the first half and increased the margin to 12 points mid-way in the second stanza. At that point, however, Coach Blanchard Beatty's cagers became reckless with their passing and San Bernardino sneaked up to a 34-34 deadlock.

The score was deadlocked at 36-36 before Charles Hall sank a technical foul throw and little Russell Duffell sent the ball in for a field goal to put the game one ice, 39-36. San Bernardino closed the gap to one point with a long shot.

Finding the zone defense a tough obstacle to break through, the Dons relied on long baskets to put them out in front. Hall meshed three in the opening period from more than 30 feet out. Cy Leivermann was held to 10 points — three baskets and four foul shots, while Hall scored 11.

Capt. Chet Katzka, high-scoring San Bernardino forward, was held to 13 points by the Don guards, Lynn Arnett and Del Holan.

Beatty's club draws a league bye next week but has an engagement with the barnstorming Phoenix Junior college quintet Friday night at Tustin's gymnasium.

WILSON'S FIVE WINS NO. 15

Marring Treesweet Products' basketball club's second-half record, Wilson's Dairy chalked up a 34-27 victory last night to run their consecutive win streak to 15 games in the Y. M. C. A. league. Al's Lock and Key Shop and Irvine also are still undefeated.

Bob Schwarm and Charles (Chuck) Denio rang up 13 points each for scoring honors. Wilson's led, 15-13, at the half.

SHARPSHOOTING SANTA ANITA

By FRANK FISKE

"You pick 'em your way and I'll pick 'em my way and I'll be in the poor house afore ye . . ." (Old Song).

The race track recession has started in deadly earnest. Horses that oughta win don't and horses that can't possibly win beat them both and Santa Anita is a jumble of this and that with the note of the loon sounding above the back stretch and the mutuel handle out in front of the grand old sport of improving the breed. So let's all get together and join in the song that I'm still trying to make the race track hit of the season—

"Bookmakers' sweeties wear diamonds and sables
While horse players' children are sleeping in stables
For misery money wins only in fables,
Luck has gotta change right soon!"

After this warning let's get to the . . .

First . . . ELSEEBEE won't be any 60 to 1 today but take what you can get and like it. The others are DETAINED and GREEN JADE.

Second . . . Sticky as a piece of fly paper and just as safe to play on, but such form as there is makes it WASATCH . . . BOULDER . . . GALLANT BOY.

Third . . . Really appears to be a bit of a stand-out in this one and though the last few days have made me very suspicious of stand-outs I can't help getting a bit enthusiastic about LAPLAND. He'll have to run to beat DODLOO and ZOR.

Fourth . . . The Phantom says HU CAR with DOLICIA BOY and SILVER SARAH for the contention. Your guess is as good as mine.

Fifth . . . Tip is out on OUR REIGH through the differtial calculus that we use in tight places like this says STEPAHEAD is a thin hair the best. VALIANT FOX can cut himself a slice of it.

Sixth . . . Better let the girl friend pick the pretty ones here. I have a shrewd suspicion that the much touted POMPOON is out for an airing and that while he is leisurely looking at Doc Strub's synthetic scenery the SABUESO-LIGAROTI entry will romp in, trailed by PRIMULUS and POMPA.

Seventh . . . Here's the spot for your overconfidence and you can set it on SKY WIND with a swagger. ST. STEPHENS always goes for the works and BLACK HIGHBROW may or may not be up to Eastern form first out.

Eighth . . . Wish someone would tell why this one keeps coming up. The crystal ball shows a neat finish with SHASTA RACKET . . . SKY GLARE . . . SKY RHONDA in the charmed circle.

Planned economy — LAPLAND and SKY WIND.

Hatpin hazards—HU CAR and SHASTA RACKET.

(Fiske's selections are broadcast over KVOE at 8:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. by Journal Newscaster Tom Danson.)

Heelfly Declared Out of Handicap With Leg Injury

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Heelfly, formidable rival of Seabiscuit in the 1937 campaign, will be declared out of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap and withdrawn from racing for at least three months, owner Thomas Painter Morgan said today.

Heelfly is suffering from an osselet in the left front log—a bony growth which painfully hampers a runner. Morgan came from his Corpus Christi, Texas, home to make the decision to turn Heelfly out after treatment.

The sensational racer, carrying 12 pounds less than Seabiscuit, tied the handicap champion in the Laurel stakes in Maryland last fall.

MORTENSEN AND BLACK DRAGON WIN

Wrestling fans were convinced today that all the rough stuff isn't confined to the male matadors. They saw Clara Mortensen, the recognized champion, and Rita Martinez stage a woman's match at the Highway 101 club last night that provided 14 min. 22 secs. of hair-pulling and other slam-bang tactics.

La Mortensen, the blonde glamour girl of the mat, retained her title with a body press after a nip-and-tuck battle.

Dude Chick, the junior heavyweight champion, will appear here next Thursday night against The Black Dragon, mystery man who defeated Speed LaRance in the three-fall main event last night. LaRance took the first fall with a leg lock in 15 min. 19 secs., but the Dragon employed his Boston crab and body slams to win the next two falls in 6:04 and 1:34.

Phil Romano took a straight-fall decision over Al Wescott in a rolling arm lock in 11:33 and a leg lock in 12:04.

Employing body slams and a flying tackle, Ernie Pialuso pinned Pete Belcastro in 13 min. 50 secs. of the opener.

GERMAN RACE STAR KILLED

BERLIN. (AP)—Bernd Rosemeyer, famed German racing driver and 1937 winner of the Vanderbilt cup in the United States, was killed today in an automobile race on the Frankfurt on the Main-Darmstadt road.

A front tire on Rosemeyer's auto-union car wrenched off while the racer was doing 275 miles an hour.

The car skidded 80 yards, somersaulted twice and was catipulted 200 yards through the air. Rosemeyer was flung out in mid-air and smashed into an embankment. He died instantly.

He had been competing in speed tests for new records. The trials were abandoned and a search begun for Rosemeyer's widow, who was believed to be in the Silesian mountains.

MEL OTT SIGNS 13TH CONTRACT

NEW YORK. (AP)—Mel Ott, the "little hotfoot" of the Giants, has mailed in his signed contract, so it looks like there will be a baseball campaign despite the current holdout epidemic.

If the modest star from Gretna, Na., ever does fail to send a signed contract back by return post, the magnates might begin to worry. For the day each January when Mel's signature hits the Giants' desk the word goes around: "All's well."

Though he's been a star almost from the day John McGraw yanked him out of Gretna High school, a kid of 16, Ott has never once even questioned the first contract offered him. The coming season will be his 13th as an active Giant.

RODEO TOMORROW

PALM SPRINGS. (AP)—Everett Bowman, 1937 world rodeo champion, will participate in the first major rodeo of the 1938 season here tomorrow and Sunday, it was announced today.

Battling for the lead in a game which will greatly enhance the title chances of the winner, Tustin and Garden Grove high schools tangle in Orange league basketball at Tustin tonight. Class B fives of the two schools will collide in the 7 o'clock preliminary to the varsity game, which will start around 8:15.

The Tustin-Garden Grove game overshadows the San Juan Capistrano-Valencia and Laguna Beach-Brea tussels, completing the third week of play.

Although Ev Winkler, six-foot center, has missed two practice sessions this week with a cold, he will return to make Tustin's lineup intact tonight. Larry Monroy and Vic Linker will be at forward, Joe Kiersey and Walt Linker at guard.

Garden Grove's first-string lineup is comprised of Chet Coates and Merle Hapes at forward, Lloyd LeClair at center, Art Berry and Roy Hudson at guard.

MILLS' CAGERS STOP MESANS

Clicking with their shots for the first time in several tilts, Santa Ana's Woolen Mills evened the count at two wins and two losses in a County Basketball league game last night at the Y. M. C. A. where they defeated Costa Mesa, 41-31.

Fullerton stayed on top of the pack undefeated, trouncing Huntington Beach, 45-32.

Leonard Lockhart with 12 and Tommy Lacy with 11 paced the Woolen Mills. The Millers play the Los Angeles Bank of America there tomorrow night and the Celanese company of Los Angeles Monday night here.

3-Furlong Record Set by Galley Slave

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — The seven-furlong spring fashion purse at Santa Anita park today drew the entries of Pompoon, Argentine-bred Ligaroti and Indian Broom in a race that blossomed over night into an outstanding event.

The three were originally nominated for the San Pasqual handicap over the same distance tomorrow, but the crowded field and weight assignments caused the stables to switch plans.

Pompoon, Jerome T. Louchheim's outstanding 3-year-old and second to War Admiral in the Kentucky derby last year, ruled a favorite, in his first start of the year.

Turf writers still talked today of the record set yesterday by Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Galley Slave, crack 2-year-old which ran the three-furlongs in 32 4-5 seconds for a new world record.

Two years ago Vanderbilt's Airflame ran the distance in 33 seconds for a new, although seldom contested record, and last year his Balking equalled the time.

Barring upsets, Orange and Anaheim high schools will set the stage for a basketball "natural" in the Sunset Prep league tonight. Orange remains at home to play Huntington Beach's Oilers, and Anaheim's Colonists travel to Long Beach Jordan. Victories will send Orange and Anaheim into a championship game at Anaheim Feb. 4.

The third game will find Excelsior at Newport Harbor tonight.

Henry Martinez and Dick Gunther, forwards; Bob (Spider) Shildmeyer, center; Elmer Worden and Ray Amling, guards, will comprise the Orange lineup that is favored over Huntington Beach's Oilers, who dropped a 36-16 game to Anaheim's Colonists last week.

Budge and Mako Lose in Doubles

ADELAIDE, Australia. (AP)—The German doubles team of Baron Gottfried Von Cram and Heinrich Henkel entered the men's finals in the Australian championships today by defeating the Australian duo of Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath, 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5. The Australian combination of Adrain Quist and Jack Bromwich, after a weak start, rallied to beat the American team of Don Budge and Gene Mako, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, in the other semifinal.

STANFORD VS. BRUIN CLUB

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Stanford university's basketball squad, featuring Hank Luisetti, makes its 1938 bow here tonight in a conference southern division game against the Bruins of U. C. L. A., at Pan-Pacific auditorium.

The third-place Indians were determined—and highly favored—to trounce the Uclans, although Coach Caddy Works has brought the Bruins along nicely in the past week with improved floor work.

TROJANS THREATEN CALIFORNIA LEAD

BERKELEY. (AP) — Southern California's Trojans will try to knock the California Bears from leadership of the Pacific Coast conference southern division in the first contest of a two-game basketball series here tonight.

A packed house of 7400 was in prospect. California must win one of the two games to remain at the top of the standings.

The Bears are undefeated in three conference encounters. The Trojans split a series with Stanford two weeks ago.

Pitt Has Two Bob Johnsons At Same Post

No. I No. II

PITTSBURGH. (AP) — You've heard a lot about touchdown twins and other sports combinations, but Pitt's basketball Panthers have a different wrinkle.

Bob Johnson in the Pitt lineup is two other fellows. Rather there are two Bob Johnsons, both forwards, both from Pittsburgh, both six feet tall and bearing a remarkable resemblance to each other—yet they are not related.

Dr. Clif Carlson, who has coached at Pitt for 16 years, wasn't stumped. He promptly designated them Bob Johnson No. 1 and Bob Johnson No. 2. That's the way they are listed in programs and in newspaper accounts of games.

Johnson No. 1 is a senior and captain of Pitt's Eastern conference champions. Johnson No. 2, a sophomore, has been breaking into the lineup frequently and shows promise as a floorman.

SPORTS Roundup

—By— EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—At least 700 persons jammed traffic in front of a Times square clothier while Joe DiMaggio went in and bought a $50 suit . . . Cards now have the inside track for Van Mungo and a deal may be closed here Sunday night . . . This is official: Joe Louis and his wife aren't expecting a new arrival; nor are they about to get a divorce . . . (Western papers please copy.)

* * *

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, grins and adopts a strictly neutral attitude when visitors bring up the current war between Manager Bill Terry and the sports writers . . . Expert fight men say Bobby Tow, the young heavyweight Joe Gould recently took under his wing, is about ready for the big time . . . Rumors that Judge Landis is preparing a retirement announcement continue to bob up.

* * *

Here's a sharp contrast in baseball rosters: The Giants give everything, including how the club made out each year since 1883 against their National league rivals as well as a detailed time table of their spring training trip . . . On the other hand, the Washington Senators don't even give the first names of their players.

* * *

Lou Diamond, former Tampa, Fla., promoter will blossom out as the Tex Rickard of Rochester (N. Y.), with Freddie Steele opposing Bob Turner in an over-the-weight affair, Feb. 8 . . . Recommended: Jack Miley's piece on Tony Galento in Collier's . . . Out-of-town sports writers blasted the Bill Terry opus more severely than the local brethren who, after all, were the victims.

* * *

Terry is due in town tomorrow and one and all look forward to a good old-fashioned love-feast when he receives the scribes in the Giant offices . . . All that talk about a Max Baer-John Henry Lewis bout is nothing more than that—so far . . . Bob Pastor, who once stuck 10 rounds with Joe Louis (many ringsiders said Bob rode a bicycle) is back on the subway circuit . . . Fritz Crisler is ready to leave Princeton for Michigan the minute they tell him he'll be the next athletic director . . . And while on football, Greasy Neale of Yale could have a half dozen head coaching jobs if he'd take 'em.

SAINTS TRAVEL TO SAN BERDOO

Smarting under a 26-25 defeat from Pomona, Santa Ana High school's Saints journey to San Bernardino tonight to complete the first round in the Citrus Belt league basketball race. Class B fives of the two schools clash at 7 o'clock, the varsities an hour later.

Gene O'Campo and Pete Partida at forward, Dick Brown at center, Marvin Webb and Maurice Young at guard will comprise Santa Ana's probable starting lineup.

Greenberg Sees Yankee Downfall

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Hank Greenberg's intuition expanded under a Florida sun today and exploded with two strong hunches, viz:

1. The Yankees will blow up this season.

2. Hank Greenberg will hit a lot of home runs.

"I've got a hunch," the Detroit slugger said, "the Yankees are going to blow up in a large way. I've got a feeling something they won't like is going to happen to them. I don't know what it will be, but I hope it's nothing trivial."

CRACK TEAMS TO COLLIDE HERE TONIGHT

Revamping a line-up which has developed finesse in only three weeks of practice, Coach Ernest Butterworth sends Santa Ana Junior college's ruggers against Santa Barbara State college's 15 at 8 o'clock tonight in the Municipal bowl.

It will be the second Southern California Rugby league start for both clubs. Santa Ana tied U. C. L. A.'s varsity, 0-0, last Friday, and Santa Barbara deadlocked the same outfit the next day, 8-8.

Hit by the loss of Dick Tauber, who left for the University of Idaho this week, and Ed Stanley, who has withdrawn from college, Butterworth will experiment with several combinations tonight. Tauber was a scrum player and Stanley played at the three-quarter-back position last week.

Larry Timken will be in Stanley's place, and Bill Wilson will take over the fullback's kicking duties. Downey Thomas, a back last week, goes into the scrum, and Bill Twist, an ace hooker in the forwards, will be in the backfield. Glen Cave and Grant Kellar are two newcomers to the scrum in Twist's old post.

Other Dons in the starting lineup will be Pete Kotlar, John Joseph, Jerry Nesmith, Rusty Roquet, Bill Semnacher, Danny Boyd, Les McLennan, Fred Kobayashi and Bob Pannell. Butterworth's three substitutes are Dick Saunders, Ray Huntsinger and Harold Tucker.

Howard Yeager, fleet halfback on the Santa Barbara football team last year, and who was named on the little colleges' all-America eleven, will be the ace in the visitors' backfield. Doug Oldershaw, also selected on the little All-America team, is a powerful man in the scrum.

The probable lineups:

Santa Ana	Pos.	Santa Barbara
Twist	ST½	Woody
Cave	F	Mulock
Kellar	F	Sevenson
Kotlar	F	Mulock
Joseph	F	Valoz
Nesmith	F	Sprague

SNEAD DEFENDS GOLF CROWN

OAKLAND. (AP) — America's leading professional golfers, on their yearly winter tournament swing, started a 72-hole battle against par today in the first 18 holes of the $5000 Oakland open.

Some 200 golfers were entered, including practically all of the pros who played in the recent Southern California tournaments and a good number of amateurs.

Among the hot favorites was defending champion Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who cracked par by two strokes with a winning 268 last year.

Snead's chief rivals included Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., winner of the Pasadena open; long-driving Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee - on - the - Delaware, Pa., victor in the $8000 Los Angeles open; Byron Nelson, Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Hines, Johnny Revolta and Lawson Little, former amateur king.

Willard Quintets Win Two Games

The Frances Willard Junior High school Cees and Dees defeated Brea Intermediate school yesterday at the high school. Coach Arnold Lund's second-string Cees piled up a score of 26-14. In the smaller divisions, the Willard Dees won, 18-16.

Lou (Two Gun) Gehrig Clicks As Westerner in Movies

HOLLYWOOD. (AP) — Lou (Two Gun) Gehrig may turn out to be the best baseball player ever to make the grade as a movie actor.

The New York Yankee star hasn't much of a record to beat in this respect, because Babe Ruth was about the ony outstanlding ball player who ever tried his hand in the flicker trade, and history reports that the Bambino was no riot as a thespian.

But this hefty, good-natured Gehrig, now completing his first role before the cameras in a shoot-'em-up western, is getting so good he has to act when he falls off a horse.

When he first came out he didn't need any rehearsals for this bit of drama. It just came naturally. He fell off so well the delighted director, Ray Taylor, named him "one-take" Gehrig, which was a compliment to everything but Lou's jolted shoulder blades.

Gehrig's picture, in which he is co-starred with Smith Ballew, a lanky Texan, will be finished next week and Columbia Lou will go to New York to discuss his 1938 salary with his boss, Colonel Jacob Ruppert.

"These shootin' irons I've been learin' to use might come in handy, but I guess I'll leave 'em behind," said Gehrig, forgetting to step out of character.

He had just finished a scene in which a horse played a prominent part. Someone thought it might have been too prominent, but Lou grinned from ear to ear.

"That horse can steal all the scenes he wants to from me. He's my friend now. He even lets me stay in the saddle."

In a recent newsreel build-up for the pcture, it was innocently suggested that Gehrig walk around behind the animal and make some idle remark about one of the teams in New York—not the Yankees.

"Oh, no you don't. Not me," protested Gehrig. "They'd ride me out of the park and back again."

WIVES RIDE FREE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Three major air lines announced today that for the next month wives of their patrons can ride free.

Transcontinental and Western Air threw open its entire system to women travelers whose husbands hold tickets. American Air lines and United Air lines limited the offer to their New York-Chicago routes.

PRICES ON MEAT AND GROCERIES REDUCED

The bottom dropped out of food prices today, and the Empire Market, Second and Broadway, began to spread the good news of lower living costs for meats, groceries and vegetables.

Meat, grocery and fresh produce were cheaper today than for many months, but the big buying power of the combined markets in the Empire Market combined to make the costs even lower to purchasers of good, honest foodstuffs.

Back of the fall in retail prices for the fine fresh meats, nationally advertised groceries and fresh garden produce loomed a definite reason. This reason mainly was in the newly announced policy of United States government to establish lower costs of living for workers and others and at the same time maintain the high standard of wages for employes.

Every division of the great Empire Market joined in enthusiastically with plans for bringing costs of food down to the absolute minimum for the working man and his family, as well as for every other individual and his family. Proprietors of the three main branches of the great market expressed the hope today that they are the first in the nation to respond to the call of the United States government for lower costs of living without necessity of lowering salaries, which would nullify efforts to bring about lower living costs.

"We are proud to announce," said Ray McIntosh, proprietor of the popular McIntosh Meat Market in the Empire Market which serves thousands of thrifty but discriminating shoppers daily, "that starting today we will lower our prices on all cuts of meat regardless of what others may do in this respect. Starting today and continuing until the national picture should change, we will sell our choice meats at the lowest prices in many months. This should be welcome news to every person who knows what fine merchandise we carry. And it is a grand opportunity for those who do not, to learn what values they can get at the McIntosh Meat Market.

"We are even going further than the request by the government. To acquaint every shopper with the facts, we will stage a special sale this week-end and will slash prices to the absolute minimum to prove that we are anxious to cooperate in any plan which will benefit the public."

Both McIntosh and M. E. Hagan, owner of the spacious Empire Grocery, pledged themselves to give the utmost in value not only this week-end but every day in the week. They said that the extraordinarily low prices in effect this week-end are to prove the sincerity of their plans to give local families every break possible.

Carload after carload of fine fresh, grain-fed steer beef, pork, veal, lamb and mutton has been received at the McIntosh Meat Market for the special week-end sale. Hagan also has tripled his orders for popular groceries so that there will be ample provisions for the family larder at unheard of bargains. Besides the meat and grocery goods, the Empire delicatessen will offer its savory goods at prices lower than has been the case for many months. The delicatessen, one of the most popular spots in Orange county's biggest food market, will offer delicacies of every description, including domestic and imported cheeses, fine fresh olives, specially prepared fish of many kinds, relishes, dairy products, cold meats, etc.

Joining with McIntosh and Hagan in the great food price celebration are the Walker and Anderson fruit and vegetable market and the Quality Produce market. Both of these enterprising firms will launch a new scheme of things in purchasing of garden and tree products today, and owners of both institutions promised that the finest obtainable products will be offered at prices unheard of in recent months.

Owners of the Empire Market establishments pointed out that the new low price schedule is possible for the reason that they are affiliated with an organization that buys direct from the manufacturer, thereby saving a big portion of the ultimate selling cost. Buying power through dealing directly with big manufacturers makes possible the passing on of savings to the customer, which otherwise would not be possible.

One of the most popular things about shopping at the Empire Market is that customers are afforded every possible courtesy and service. Merchandise is carried to the car, no matter where the vehicle is located, and every other help possible is offered.

"It's a new deal for every purchaser of foodstuffs," the Empire Market announced, "and we thank our lucky stars that we are still in a position to turn to the advantage of the customer our years of experience in buying and selling. Our success is based upon the fact that we do a big volume of business at a small profit. If you have any doubt about our prices, visit the Empire Market today and tomorrow and see for yourself!"—Adv.

Where the Muse Runs Wild

(In this department from time to time will be run contributed verse ranging (we hope) from doggerel to poetry. In the words of the standard magazine rejection slip—Rejection does not imply lack of merit—and neither does publication.)

"CHARITY"

The Humming birds sip from my flowers, in bloom;
The hawks took the last of my chickens,
Yet—maggots exist in my septic tank room;
But I plead for help—'til it sickens.

The Honey-bee lives on the sweet of my trees;
The mice get the best in my larder;
Mosquitos suck blood from my poor naked knees,
While charity rackets — get harder.

The ants swipe each crumb that I drop on the floor;
The nats and the flies are a problem;
Yet charity "Heads" stay away from my door,—
I think I'll go hunt up—and rob them.

The gophers just ruin my plants in the soil;
My Borrowing friends say I'm lazy.
If you think,—no matter how hard you may toil,—
That charities care, you are crazy.

My garbage is fed to another man's swine;
I'm forced to admit I am puzzled.
(With no more to lose) I simply refuse—
To shut up my trap and be muzzled.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

Faith should be our guiding star,
Truth and love good counsels are,
Many a problem can be solved by reason,
How grand to be ambitious in any season.
Imagination is the scientist's tool,
And justice brings us all to school,
Intelligence is the golden treasure,
That nature gave us in fullest measure.
With courage and a willing hand,
We may go forth to any land,
Vision is the Star of the Soul,
With which we should easy reach our goal.

Hate and lust are Imps of Hell,
And malice only in scoundrels dwell,
Jealousy has wrecked many a life,
Envy and passion causes much strife.

In the shrine of our heart we always find
The mystic key to our supermind,
That give us vision of the higher sphere.

GUSTAVE HASSEL.

HOW TO BEAT 'EM

I know a man in our town who goes to Santa Anita;
He says I like to play the game but they are hard to beat—a.
I bet to win they run to place;
I bet to place they run to show
I bet to show they wheel around and just refuse to go.
Now I've a question to ask you—
Just what can a fellow do?
(Ans. QUIT. . . .)

MEXICO BOOSTS TARRIFF RATES

MEXICO, D. F. (AP)—A howl of protest went up from business men here as Finance Minister Eduardo Suarez doubled, tripled, quadrupled and quintupled tariff rates, but Suarez said firmly there was nothing else he could do.

With commodity prices on the toboggan in the United States, he explained, Mexico had to build her tariff walls higher to keep the country from buying so much abroad the peso would be weakened.

Opinion here was divided as to whether the step was necessary but United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels was "surprised" at it and "regretted it," and Secretary Hull in Washington, was "sorry" and "disappointed."

The usually soft spoken American envoy put his feelings into vigorous—for him—words when he said the move was "contrary to the spirit of the Buenos Aires conference (on inter-American relations, in December, 1936) with which our state department is very much in sympathy."

Hull said tersely "the mere increase of the obstacles to trade does not and cannot solve economic difficulties."

CANDY SALES JUMP

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The nation's candy manufacturers, the commerce department said today, reported sales of $254,000,000 during 1937, or six per cent more than in 1936.

South Africa has a building boom.

SAVE MONEY FOR YOURSELF WHILE HELPING SAVE AN INDUSTRY

Patronize the Retailers Who Are Co-operating With Us to Give You Lower Beef Prices—BUY BEEF TODAY!

Realizing their obligation both to their customers and to an industry sorely beset by a surplus of fat beef, public spirited retailers of the Southwest are today offering Western grain-fed Beef at new low prices—the lowest in months. The increased volume of sales, produced by these sharp reductions enables these merchants to keep their prices down and at the same time rally to the support of the hard-hit livestock industry. So buy from these co-operating merchants, Mrs. Housewife—you get better beef for less money.

HON. FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California ANTICIPATES YOUR SUPPORT

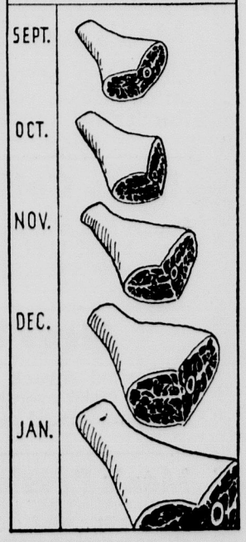
When informed of the immediate need for disposing of the surplus of Western-fed beef, the Governor said, "I have been informed that the cattle branch of our great livestock industry is now facing a marketing crisis but I have every belief that this crisis can be averted by the application of our own California plan of producer-consumer co-operation."

Prices Down 33 1/3%

Today wholesale prices are 12c to 14c per pound for beef that is of equal or better quality than that which sold for 18c to 20c per pound, four months ago. You consumers should be getting the full benefit of this drastic price-cut and you can if you patronize the markets co-operating with our committee.

Why Western Grain-Fed Beef Is Better

These fine-bred feeder cattle have been raised on the sun-drenched ranges of the Southwest—they are then moved into the feed yards where they are "finished" on the choicest grains and concentrated feeds. Recognized authorities emphatically state that the Western grain-fed Beef has no superior. Every cut of Western grain-fed Beef is equally nutritious.



Will You Write Us Your Reaction to This Ad?

We'd like to know what you think of our efforts to reduce your living costs. We know that you want and need more beef and that you will buy more if low prices are maintained. And they can be maintained if both you and your meat market co-operate by buying beef regularly. Only by so doing can you help an industry essential to the health and welfare of the Southwest weather its most critical storm. Let us hear from you; tell us what your favorite market is doing. Thank you. Address letters to Room 210, Livestock Exchange Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

RANCHER'S WILL GIVES $72,000

William West Manter, Anaheim-rancher who died Monday, left cash bequests totaling $72,400 besides his ranch and personal property, it was revealed today when his will was filed for probate in superior court.

The will, dated June 6, 1936, was presented for probate by two daughters, Mrs. Ida M. Carey, of Inglewood and Mrs. Hazel B. Powel of Norwalk. The widow, Mrs. Hannah Manter, gets household effects and an automobile; while Mrs. Carey is left $3400 in cash and three of her own notes totaling $29,250, and Mrs. Powell is left three of her notes totaling $31,750. They also are to share proceeds of the ranch implements.

Another daughter, Helen Jayne of Anaheim, is left a $5000 insurance annuity; and the three daughters together are residuary heirs. A sister and three grandchildren are left $1000 each.

DEFENSE FOR COAST SAID INADEQUATE

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Coast defenses, greatly strengthened in recent years by the construction of aviation fields, addition of artillery and through recruiting, are still dangerously inadequate in view of disturbed conditions in the Pacific, in the opinion of California's military minded.

The National Guard is at the peak of its all time strength with an enlisted personnel of 7600 officers and men.

Millions have been poured into air bases, aircraft equipment bombing bases and airplane supply and repair depots.

SUPPLY DEPOT

At completion in November of an aircraft repair and supply depot at Sacramento costing $7,000,000, the army personnel will be moved here from Rockwell field, San Diego. The Navy will then take possession and staff the repair and supply depot there.

All these moves, in conjunction with the establishment of the Hamilton field bombing base in Marin county, the new Navy base at Alameda and improvements at March Field, Riverside, have or will bolster coast defenses but two distinctive threats to the security of the west coast remain.

There is a menacing lack of anti-aircraft personnel and equipment, asserts Adjutant General H. H. Morehead.

LOSS OF SHIPS

The loss of large merchant ships threatened through diversion to Atlantic trade routes would have a crippling effect on the movement and supply of an army defending the Pacific Coast he says.

There are only two new anti-aircraft tanks on the Pacific Coast. More are needed.

Army and civilian interests, aided by the state chambers of commerce and civic groups, are campaigning for an additional anti-aircraft regiment.

For a time the response was discouraging. National Guard officials were told it was useless to allow additional units when the equipment was not available to arm them. A mechanical device used to train guns upon aircraft costs $40,000 each.

ADDED FUNDS

Recently word has come from Washington that an added Army appropriation of some $460,000 will be devoted, if obtained, to air defenses, planes, tanks and equipment.

It is likely, General Morehead advised from Washington, the state will be allotted an additional anti-aircraft regiment.

Also there is likelihood of an additional allocation of 300 or 400 enlistments to increase and bring to full strength the state's motor transport and medical regiments. The new personnel would be apportioned to the 115th quartermasters regiment at Berkeley and the 115th medical regiment at Long Beach.

General Morehead sent word of the encouragement he had received while at the national capitol testifying as a representative of the state at a congressional committee hearing.

Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department of public works and John R. Quinn, head of the veteran's welfare department were the other two members of a California committee appointed by Governor Frank F. Merriam to appear for California.

Primarily their mission was to protest against threatened reduction of the west coast merchant marine.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

The National Youth Administration band under the direction of T. Dunstan Collins will furnish a prelude of music at the big Townsend mass meeting being held at 7:30 tomorrow night in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. Judge M. C. Summers who has toured 15 of the Eastern states during the last year lecturing before Townsend clubs and other gatherings will be the speaker. His lecture "Money in Jail" is worth going to hear and it will interest folks who are not Townsendites as well as those who are. The meeting is being sponsored by Santa Ana Club No. 10 of which Mrs. Edith L. Paul is president but J. H. Walsh has been invited to be the master of ceremonies. Without doubt this will be one of the best Townsend meetings of the winter. Be sure to hear this speaker.

Because of Mrs. Robb's state of health the writer could not attend the big Townsend meeting held Tuesday evening in Santa Ana Townsend hall, but the reports concerning same which are coming to the writer indicate a meeting of especial interest. The San Bernardino Sun's advertising manager, W. R. Cogswell, was the speaker and as usual he had a message of worth and delivered it in true Townsend style. He analyzed the cause of depressions and showed how the Townsend plan when enacted into law would make such economic disasters impossible. He touched briefly on the episode in Washington by which a few congressmen recently launched a move to bring out a compromise pension measure in place of the Townsend one, but prophesied failure for the attempt. He opined that eventually the Townsend principles would be included in a legislative measure which would become the law of the land. The Hurd-Lentz orchestra furnished music in the form of a much appreciated concert and G. Willard Bassett, tenor soloist, rendered four beautiful numbers accompanied by Miss Lizetta Phillips. Approximately 300 Townsendites and their friends were in attendance.

Mrs. W. L. Campbell of Fullerton Club No. 2 writes of a meeting which the club will hold tonight in the Recreational room of the California hotel at the corner of North Spadra and Wilshire avenues. She says "Miss Florence Davis will have charge of the program and that Prof. Quez will furnish the entertainment." The regular business meeting will be conducted in addition to a social good time that will follow. A cordial invitation is extended to all Townsendites and their friends to attend. Walter Schulz is the president of this club.

Wednesday morning's Los Angeles Times carried a writeup of the dedication program which will be given tomorrow afternoon and evening when the new Los Angeles Townsend headquarters at 855 South Figueroa street will be dedicated. Dr. Francis E. Townsend will be one of the speakers at the dedication services. In the evening a Townsend dance will be held at which Dr. Townsend and Mrs. Townsend will be guests of honor.

Senator Harry C. Westover was the speaker at a meeting of the Newport Beach club which was held in the city hall last evening. Last Friday evening Senator Westover addressed the Orange Townsend Club No. 2, discussing the state aged assistance as it operates in connection with social welfare departments over the state.

It will be pleasing to the Orange county Townsendites to learn that Dewey S. Hubbard, former president of the Garden Grove Townsend Club No. 1 has returned with his wife to make their home in Garden Grove after living for several months in Burbank. He will doubtless again be a big help to the Garden Grove club.

Troubles never come singly in the P. R. Long family who reside at 906 West First street. First, Mr. Long, who is president of Santa Ana Club No. 2, took sick and then Mrs. Long, financial secretary of the same club, not to be outdone by her husband, also took sick. Their many Townsend friends will be glad to hear that they are both on the road to recovery again.

H. C. Roberts, a manufacturer of Sioux City, Iowa, has written a letter to Dr. Townsend, saying: "I am one of those who has the deepest sympathy for the noble work you have carried on for humanity in the face of great opposition. I have utmost confidence in your practical plan for solving the moral and economic problems that face not only the youth, but the elderly people as well. In fact, I have often pointed out to doubters the advantages which my boys and girls would enjoy under the plan you have conceived. It is of serious concern to me that your plan shall finally succeed and be adopted.

"It seems that these little political powers must first try many schemes that only adopt the principle of lifting yourself up by the bootstraps. And, right here, I want to say that I believe the Social Security Act is a fraud on its face, an added tax burden that neither solves unemployment nor adds one iota to security in old age. It is just another tax that does not offer any relief."

The writer thinks it a good omen for the Townsend plan when manufacturers take the trouble to write the founder of our movement their approval of the Townsend plan principles.

ROPER INVITES CALIFORNIANS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Roper announced yesterday the names of the 500 persons invited to attend a meeting of "small" business men here next Wednesday.

After Secretary Roper has talked with the group, a committee will call upon President Roosevelt.

Those invited from California included:

James A. Vai and D. G. Oppenheim, L. A.; Carl S. Hawthorne, Long Beach; F. H. McFarland, Woodlake; E. A. Hefler and Frank E. Mortenson, L. A.; Milton Gair, Redlands; Marshall Selover, Goleta; Roy A. Brown, L. A.; William D. Adeler and A. E. Stokes, San Francisco; C. H. McCaslin, Oakland; Joseph Zukin and Al Williams, L. A.; George C. Davis, Oakland.

FITTS AIDE STEPS DOWN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Resignation of Chief Deputy District Attorney William E. Simpson as first assistant to District Attorney Buron Fitts will become effective Feb. 1.

Simpson, who informed Fitts when he accepted the appointment a year ago he intended to remain in the prosecutor's office only six months, said he intended to return to private practice with his brother, Edward Simpson. The Simpsons were former residents of Fresno.

During his association with Fitts' office, Simpson obtained conviction of the Douglas Aircraft sit-down strikers and of Albert Dyer, slayer of three small Inglewood girls.

KERN SETTLES DEATH SUIT

BAKERSFIELD. (AP)—A $52,000 suit against Kern county over the deaths of a man and a woman was compromised yesterday for $5200. Howard Weyand and Rose Zimmerman were killed when the car in which they were riding overturned near a bridge north of here.

Plaintiffs were Weyand's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Weyand, and Mrs. Zimmerman's husband, A. J. Zimmerman.

Superior Judge Louis C. Drapeau of Ventura county was here to hear the case.

OFFICERS EVICT WPA STRIKERS

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Using axes and crowbars, 16 officers smashed into barricaded WPA buildings here yesterday and evicted approximately 200 WPA sit-down strikers who had taken charge of the area offices yesterday.

Police arrested the leader, Al Friedman of St. Louis, an organizer for the workers' alliance of America, and R. C. Wolf of Joplin on warrants charging rioting.

The strikers are demanding a 30 per cent pay increase and abandonment of split shift methods of operation.

FISK ACQUIRES OIL ACREAGE

HANFORD, Calif. (AP)—C. F. Fisk, Alameda oil operator, said yesterday he had acquired 4000 acres of Tulare lake lands two miles west of Alpaugh, from Mrs. Florence G. Baldwin of San Jose. The consideration was $200,000.

Fisk was associated with oil development in Kern county for several years and farmed in the lake district 20 years ago. He said he would plant cotton and sugar beets, and lease land to oil prospectors.

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Here and There With Southern California Artists

By DONALD BUTTON

'Way back on Oct. 2, 1936, this column stated "Jean Goodwin and Arthur Ames have turned to mosaic. Working drawings for two large panels taking them six months to complete are now in preparation."

It is only very recently the last section of tile was fastened to the wall, while final polishing of the work is still in process.

And while I have not yet been to see it, I know you too will want to go down to Costa Mesa and Newport Harbor high school to see the work of these two local artists upon the walls there.

If there should be some new readers of this, let me recall the panels are appropriate connotation of life-by-the-sea in the harbor area.

Vitreous (unglazed) tile is the material, and the panels are dominated by soft browns, blues and greens that are so much more pleasing than the blazing color of the glazed ones.

They have a lovely setting in the tropically-planed patio of the school. They are already become, I believe, a part of that school.

* * *

Few in this community are yet aware, probably, of the art-importance these mosaics give this area. Well-drawn, planned and executed by two of Southern California's outstanding moderns, it should, and will, draw lovers of fine things from all over the country.

Newport Harbor high school has its mosiacs, Fullerton its Kasler Mural. What have we to adorn our public schools?

* * *

The Goodwin-Ames mosiacs have, of course, been made possible through the Federal Project of Art.

Private enterprise has seldom hereabouts tackled projects the size and difficulty of the marble and goldleaf mosaic for Alameda county courthouse, or the Long Beach municipal auditorium.

Incidentally, the Long Beach project is to be unveiled in public ceremony Saturday. I understand Governor Merriam and other high dignitaries will be present, and it will be a gala occasion.

* * *

Comes now the question whether size is excellence?

Comparing the Long Beach mosaic to that of Jean Goodwin and Arthur Ames at Newport, it isn't.

I know that the Long Beach one was confused with the participation in it of several designers. From what I have seen of it, I doubt its lasting interest and appeal. It often looks like a continuation of the Pike.

On the other hand, the Newport mosaics come from minds which think alike, whose hands know an harmonious execution. In this they are fortunate.

I do not beg, I simply demand you go very soon to Newport Harbor high school to see these lovely wall panels.

The smart thing to do (and I need hardly point it out) is to go early and avoid the rush!

* * *

There's time, too, for one last glimpse at the Summary of 19th Century French Painting (in reproductions) at the library.

It meets a number of those difficult "background" requirements!

* * *

Tuesday, of course, the library dons gala mood for the national photographic show.

By the time you have read this, the committee of selection will probably have decided upon the outstanding pictures that will make this interesting show.

I have been repeatedly surprised at the great national interest in a show which we should hold locally.

"The Great" names of photography have been gracious in their response. The number of lesser cameramen wanting to participate in this show is indicative of the increasing hold the camera has upon our nation.

Stop 'round at the library after Tuesday. There's going to be a real show there.

4 BABIES BURN IN CABIN HOME

PORT ORFORD, Ore. (AP)—The four infant children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Westbrook burned to death yesterday in a fire which destroyed a one-room cabin north of the Sixes river.

The victims were twin girls, born in the fire-swept area of Bandon a year ago last September, and two boys, each under seven years of age.

The fire started from a stove which the mother had filled with wood just before she stepped outside.

MERRIAM SETS 'FDR WEEK'

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Governor Frank F. Merriam today proclaimed Saturday, Jan. 29, as "the President's Anniversary Day" and urged the people of California to cooperate in the nationwide fight against infantile paralysis.

After stating the nation is faced with a crisis brought about by the unchecked advance of infantile paralysis and that a national foundation is being established to care for and rehabilitate victims of the disease, the governor stated:

"May we all join with Franklin Delano Roosevelt, president of the United States, in contributing and soliciting funds in an effort to accomplish the worthy objective proposed in this humanitarian program."

PREPARE FOR BATTLES IN HONGKONG

HONGKONG. (AP)—Fearful that Japan might attempt to extend her military activities in China toward this British crown colony, Hongkong is fortifying to such an extent that it soon may be, with Singapore, another "Gibraltar of the East."

Emergency crews of military and naval engineers, technicians and laborers are working 24 hours a day to complete a $40,000,000 program of harbor, land and air defenses.

The hills and islets on the fringes of the colony already are bristling with heavy guns, machine gun and anti-aircraft emplacements and other preparations for an armed onslaught by land, air or water.

MIMIC RAIDS

There are hundreds of searchlights to spot aerial attackers, and mythical raids and "blackouts" are staged periodically to train the populace. Any resident failing to put out all lights when ordered may be fined up to $1000.

With the thousands of homes in inky darkness and the far flung batteries of searchlights fingering the sky, the colony presents a grimly beautiful spectacle. The only noise to be heard above the eclipsed city is the drone of "invading" and "defending" planes.

Hongkong fears that some day the thunder of bombardment may be added.

HUGE GUNS

Observers say the countless machine gun nests could hold up an attacking land force for two weeks. The larger naval and land guns in the hills—said to include several 16- and 18-inch cannon of range greater than any ship-mounted gun—could hold back an attack by sea.

Even so, British authorities claim only sufficient precautions to keep an invading force at bay until help could arrive from Singapore or even Australia or India. Singapore is three days away by warship.

Reliable sources say more than 1000 mines have been laid for the defense of the harbor and Tolo bay, north of the Kowloon peninsula. An elaborate network of military roads is being thrown across the hills between Kowloon and Tolo bay.

BOMBPROOF SHELTERS

Japan's wide scale aerial operations in China convinced British authorities that the colony's air defenses were far from adequate. They ordered the expenditure of $350,000 for construction of bombproof shelters, gasproof cellars and decontamination chambers for civilians at numerous points in congested areas.

More than 200 bombing, pursuit and scouting planes will be stationed here under the full quota ordered for the colony. Most formidable among the bombers, it is said, will be the new Bristol type capable of carrying two tons of explosives at 200 miles an hour.

Before additional troops can be sent to reinforce the four battalions of British soldiers here now, new barracks must be built. Construction of new barracks on a $7,000,000 appropriation was started nearly a year ago. The first cantonment, 23 buildings, will be completed within a few weeks.

FORCES ADEQUATE

The British naval forces now at Hongkong or within easy reach are considered adequate for the present. There are some 55 ships in Britain's China squadron based here, eight of them fast modern cruisers.

The squadron also has an aircraft carrier, 17 first-class minelaying submarines, each equipped with eight torpedo tubes, and a number of auxiliary craft.

Adult Education Classes Announced by Schools

Courses in more than 35 different subjects are offered to the public in evening classes beginning Jan. 31. at Lathrop and Willard Evening high schools. No tuition is charged, as the studies are a part of the state educational program.

Students are asked to furnish their own texts and materials and in a few classes small service fees are charged. On request, credit may be obtained by pupils on high school graduation. Fifty-four persons have been graduated in the past five years.

Persons may register in each class room, and students are urged to appear at the beginning of the courses. Anyone, however, may enroll throughout the term.

Americanization classes are held in school centers near the Fremont, Logan and Delhi Mexican schools with Mrs. Hazel Bishop in charge. A baby clinic is conducted monthly in each center by the county health department.

Parent education study groups will be organized throughout the year in cooperation with the various schools. Miss Nell Hunt will assist in planning this work.

Willard school is located at 1342 N. Ross street and Lathrop at 1120 S. Main street.

Following is a schedule of classes:

Art crafts, Thurs., 3:00 to 5:00, Willard.

Blue-print reading, Wed., 7:00 to 9:00, Lathrop.

Bookkeeping, Wed., 7:00 to 9:00, Lathrop.

STORMS HIT WILD LIFE OF STATE

SACRAMENTO. (AP) — Wildlife in Northern California suffered severely in the heavy and unusual rains in December in the Sacramento river valley and in the Sierra mountains.

Game wardens reported to the state fish and game commission heavy losses of pheasants occurred in Glenn, Colusa, and Yolo counties and thousands of cottontail rabbits likewise perished, although sportsmen with rowboats saved many.

Deer and quail in the lower levels were drowned while in the higher levels trout mostly were destroyed by being left stranded when the flood waters subsided.

L. E. Brown, secretary of the Red Bluff chamber of commerce, reported hundreds of trout were stranded during the high water in the tributaries to the Sacramento river in Eastern Tehama county.

He said four of six feet of mud silt was deposited in the Paciifc Gas and Electric company's Inskip, Volta and South powerhouses along Battle creek and in cleaning out the debris workmen found large numbers of two and three pound trout packed in the mud.

Fifteen inches of rain which fell in less than 48 hours washed out practically every salmon spawning bed in the area he reported.

The flood was not without its advantages to gamelife, August Bade, superintendent of state game farms, believes. He declared damage to upland game birds was more than offset by the destruction of vermin.

Bade said a survey of the flooded areas showed rats, mice, and squirrels, which had become "quite a menace to game birds in that area, suffered heavy losses."

Most of the pheasants which were lost to hunters were either drowned or became the prey of hawks. The pheasants remained in the trees until they became so weak they were unable to fly to dry ground and they either fell into the water and drowned or were taken by hawks.

NIAGARA SPAN DEFEATS ICE

NIAGARA FALLS. (AP)—Marked by a slight sag and some twisted girders, Niagara's famed "Honeymoon bridge" stood victor today in a 24-hour battle with the worst ice jam in the Niagara gorge in 39 years.

A shift in wind during the night apparently saved the towering 1200 foot span just when it appeared the thundering tons of ice pouring over the cataract were going to sweep it from its foundations.

Less fortunate but still not damaged beyond repair were the twin steamboats, the "Maids of the Mist," which have carried thousands of tourists up the river to the falls. The rising ice knocked them off their winter drydocks and against the walls of the gorge.

AMATEUR PLANE CRASHES IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — An airplane built by Pasadena Junior college and owned by it crashed from 9000 feet near the Los Angeles municipal airport yesterday but I. K. Mac Williams, department of commerce inspector who was testing the craft, bailed out and landed uninjured.

Observers said the inspector put the plane into a spin and apparently was unable to bring the ship out of it. He leaped at 2000 feet, his parachute carrying him gently to earth.

Premier Acts As Franc Drops

PARIS. (AP)—The cabinet today approved Premier Chautemps' draft of a social peace code regulating the relations of capital and labor, as fresh selling assaults weakened the franc.

The premier is to present the proposals to the nation in a radio address tonight.

The fanc sagged sharply in unofficial bank trading in the morning, quoted at 30.92 to the dollar, 154.70 to the pound, compared to yesterday's closings of 30.70 and 153.20.

Lottery Backer Falls To Death

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Edward A. Kenney, 52-year-old New Jersey representative, known for his advocacy of a national lottery, plunged or fell to his death from the sixth floor of a fashionable hotel here during the night.

The body, discovered at 8 a. m. by Emil Semet, a hotel waiter, was identified by Kenney's secretary, John M. Stewart. It was clad only in underwear.

PHUN PHOR 'PHANTOMS' IN WEST WRIGGLE

BREAK FOR SHERIFF AND MARX BROS.

Tempests Now Promise to Abate

By FRANK ORR

Seeing as it's an ill wind, etc., the head-putting-together department at the courthouse has come to two conclusions, rising out of the N. E. West uproar touched off by the grand jury Wednesday.

FRANK ORR

1. The other three Marx Brothers, Supervisors Riley, Finley and Mitchell, will be less apparent for a while.

2. Cowboy Hat Jackson, the sheriff, is stronger by a little bit (if he cares to run again).

MERRY PACE

It works this way: The three other supervisors, but mostly Mitchell and Riley, have popped off frequently all this term. They have put their respective feet into it and kept things going at a merry pace, although it is conceded West flipped the rope while the rest of 'em skipped.

This shock, although anticipated, will cool the rest off for a bit—and should West be convicted and removed, it probably is the end of an era of confusion, with fewer tempests begun every Tuesday when the board meets.

JACKSON STOCK

The present rise of Jackson stock isn't so large, because it is apparent just in the element that's been the Jackson rooting section all along. The Associated Farmers and other such groups involuntarily got lined up right behind the sheriff in the grand jury's accusation.

To that group, as to a large chunk of Orange county as a whole, there's nothing worse than a fellow who might be considered a radical.

'REDS' FEARED

A supervisor, or anybody else for that matter, could swipe pennies from little kids, commit mayhem, arson, assault, bigamy and nonsupport of 18 children and still remain more or less a good fellow.

But let somebody say he attended a red meeting, made a speech for the single tax, upheld the CIO or the Workers Alliance—and immediately he becomes a prize heel in their estimation, and gets kicked around plenty.

CHAMPION OF GOOD

West, by the accusation, has become one of the undesirables so far as these citizens are concerned. And, by the same token, the sheriff in the big hat has become the champion of all that is good and holy.

The sheriff, maybe, will get dragged around when the West trial begins and the diminutive Harvard honor student begins attempting to prove that the Phantom Society is a bad thing, after all.

Temporarily, though, Jackson and his Phellow Phantoms are riding on top of the haystack, with Little Hercules gathering needles below.

SOAP DANGEROUS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Bathtubs and soap are more dangerous than automobies, City Healtlh Director J. C. Geiger reported today in an analysis of accidental deaths during 1937 in San Francisco. Doctor Geiger said accidental falls, most of them due to slippery tubs or soapy floors, caused 211 deaths. Automobiles killed 156.

License Plates

Orange county has its full share of dust bowl migrants. And if you don't believe it, you might check with California highway patrolmen, who currently are handling the task of handing out some 25,000-odd pairs of 1938 California license plates.

* * *

Half of the non-resident autos being registered for California plates, as a matter of fact, are from the dust bowl and neighboring states. Other out-of-state drivers have checked in from all four corners of the country, and only a few states (Vermont, New Hampshire, Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina and one or two others) are not represented in the 500-odd non-resident autos already registered.

* * *

Non-residents in some cases have more leeway than those who are just re-registering. Deadline for the latter is next Friday, after which stiff penalties will double the fee. Out-of-state drivers can get by with green slips until the '37 plates in their own states expire (and that isn't until Nov. 15 in Alabama and South Carolina.)

* * *

Vehicle license and registration fees have run all the way from $3.40 to nearly $100, amount paid recently to register a big new truck. The $3.40 is an absolute minimum, except for motorcycles, since the registration fee is $3, and 40 cents is the lowest possible license tax charge.

* * *

Most Orange county cars will bear 1938 plates prefixed by 5-X, 6-X, 7-X or 8-X, though some 5000 will start with 6-T and 50, all purchased by the same group; will wear plates beginning with 36-M.

* * *

Through the highway patrol's temporary headquarters at Santa Ana city hall have passed nearly all the 5-X and 6-X plates, and chances are they'll get into some other series before the run is finished next Friday. Mrs. Blythe Kelleher, in charge of the distribution, hasn't any idea what series they'll send her.

* * *

Seven-X plates are being issued at a Fullerton highway patrol office, 8-X are handled by the Orange County Auto club, and 6-T plates are going through the Southern California Auto Club. The highway patrol office on North Main, handling distribution to out-of-state cars, is giving out mostly 6-X, but had one special box of 36-M plates.

* * *

Only plates given out free are for cars belonging to some governmental agency, political subdivision or "public service" organization such as banks and insurance companies. (Reason for not taxing them: They're thoroughly taxed and regulated by other departments of state government.)

Prefix designating public service is P/S, while other other free licenses are shown by their E (for exempt.) The E on state cars' licenses is surrounded by a diamond, while county cars have a circle, city cars a square and irrigation districts a hexagon.

* * *

US licenses are issued to federal cars and those belonging to consuls and officials of foreign countries. Only cars actually registered to the exempt group are tax-free, those owned privately by officials needing civilian plates.

* * *

Santa Ana police are notable in the county for using private plates on their cars, principally because they're less conspicuous. Certain other law enforcement agents have private plates that can be interchanged when they would rather not be so publicly stamped as officials.

* * *

Trucks weighing over 3000 pounds and smaller cars used commercially (such as telephone company equipment trucks) carry P/C licenses, meaning they're pneumatic commercials. Solid-tired trucks are designated S/C, though calls for these plates are so scarce the Orange county unit is referring all truck owners to the Long Beach office for plates. Trailers, pneumatic and solid, are branded P/T and S/T.

* * *

The BE-over-PC licenses you see are for cars and trucks that haul for hire, thus must pay taxes to the board of equalization. That's where the BE comes from.

* * *

Highway patrolmen have been registering about as many trailers as trucks so far this year, have checked in around 50 apiece each day since licensing began Jan. 3. Charlie Spriggman, officer in charge of the truck licenses, expects to turn around 4000 sets of plates by Feb. 4.

* * *

License plates are supplied to authorized distributors direct from Sacramento, are made by two big companies—one in Los Angeles, the other in San Francisco. (Not by prison labor, as commonly believed and as is the case in some other states.) The two license producers are the only ones in the state currently equipped to manufacture them. Plates once cost the state seven cents a set, but now are closer to 10 cents.

* * *

Lost plates are replaced with new ones during the year, but duplicates are specially marked with small dashes between the numbers. That's because plates reported lost are put on a "hot-car" list, and officers carefully watch for them, since many crimes are committed by cars with stolen plates.

* * *

Two or three "counterfeit" license plates are picked up each year by Orange county authorities, mostly from innocent offenders who lost theirs, figured they could make some more and not trouble the highway patrol. Losses are supposed to be reported within 24 hours.

* * *

Worst headache for license distributors is handling requests for special numbers. Half of the customers ask for "good" numbers, many get them if their requests come in early enough. (Special numbers are listed in December, handed out first-come-first-served until Jan. 15.)

* * *

Such complicated numbers as addresses or 'phone numbers no longer are given out, though custom still says motorists can have the same number they had last year if they so desire. One group has 10 cars, has given them all the same number for eight years.

* * *

Greatest confusion at the highway patrol's non-resident window, manned by Sergeant Charlie Wolfe, is caused by the out-of-state drivers who have no bill of sale or other proof of legal ownership. About half of those making first application for California plates have only their license slip from the previous year, make all sorts of excuses for not producing a certificate of title.

* * *

But the excuses don't work. Instead of plates, such drivers get bill of sale blanks or letters of permission from holders of liens on their cars, must send these back to their home state to be filled out.

CIO LEADER CHARGED AS NON-RESIDENT

WASHINGTON. (AP)— Secretary of Labor Perkins told a senate committee yesterday that an immigration service investigation might result soon in a hearing on charges that Harry Bridges, west coast maritime union leader, was not legally a resident of the United States.

Miss Perkins notified the senate's joint commerce and labor committee that she was therefore unwilling to supply it with a complete record of the department's investigation of Bridges.

The joint committee had requested the information in connection with its hearings on legislation to revise the maritime laws.

COUNTY FIRES INCREASE 10 PER CENT

Grass and structural fires in Orange county increased more than 10 per cent during the past year, yet property damage from fire dropped about 33 per cent.

These figures were contained today in the annual report of the State Division of Forestry, released by State Forester J. A. Scherman.

Scherman estimated his equipment and men saved property worth $79,792.50 during the past year, as compared to an estimated saving of $164,258 during 1936, and $85,335 during 1935.

The total number of fires during the year jumped from 137 to 152.

"My report for 1937," Scherman said, "points strongly to the need for the public to practice more fire prevention, not just part of the time but all of the time, in order to reduce losses and to maintain a low rate of fire insurance for Orange county."

FIRE TRUCKS PRAISED

He credited the reduction in property damage to the aid of two new rural fire trucks which were furnished by the county, and praised the board of supervisors for its "utmost interest in fire protection in the rural areas."

Total number of acres burned during the year were 2050.22, at a loss of $17,925. During the year of 1936, 287 acres burned, at a loss of $$53,539. Total damage loss in 1935 was $76,990, representing 2661 acres burned over.

A breakdown of the figures showed:

Range, grass and stubble fires, $365.20 damage, 253.47 acres burned, 54 fires reported.

Brush and watershed fires: $17.-560 damage reported, 1796.75 acres burned, 16 blazes reported.

Hay fires, none reported.

NO FALSE ALARMS

Structural fires in unincorporated areas: $38,660 damage reported, 40 blazes.

Auto fires: $4200 damage reported, 18 blazes.

Miscellaneous fires: 4072 damage reported, 23 blazes.

No false alarms were turned in, and no damage was reported to improvements from range or brush fires.

His figures contained no estimate of the amount of acres of forest and range land that might have been burned over had it not been for the fire trucks, but showed only the estimated amount of property saved by fire trucks in structures and improvements.

HORSE STRAYS

Reported as a stray by Phillip Dowds, 2037 Greenleaf street, a horse frolicked in a vacant lot next door last night until police, Poundmaster Harold Pickering and the horse's owner, Braden Finch, 1516 North Flower street, arrived and led the beast home.

Half-Minute News Items

NOSE KNOWS

CLEVELAND.—Here's a case where John Kercher, a taxicab driver, knew his onions.

Pressed for his method of identifying a man accused of assault with intent to rob, Kercher explained:

"He had onions on his breath when he held me up, and I smelled 'em when he was arrested 10 minutes later."

The defendant, Alex F. Archaki, 29, pleaded guilty.

MAN OVERBOARD

PITTSBURGH.—Police Superintendent Franklin T. McQuaide is willing to go half-way to help would-be suicides who decide they've made a mistake.

He proposes placing balsa wood floats, with long ropes attached, on bridges spanning Pittsburgh's three rivers. The idea is that pedestrians could toss the rafts overboard, and the struggling swimmer below could be hauled to safety.

Of course, if the jumper doesn't change his mind, the plan won't work.

AND A VERY LATE ONE

Luther Ross, an Alaskan sour-

MARYSVILLE, Calif.—Charles dough, came south to Seattle in 1909 to propose to a childhood sweetheart—but got cold feet.

Later both married, reared families. Their mates died.

Ross didn't trust his tongue this time. Now a Pierce, Idaho, mining man, he wired his marriage proposal to Mrs. Florence G. Schumacher—his 1909 sweetheart. She married him yesterday.

Mrs. Pleasants' Age Given Incorrectly

Mrs. J. E. Pleasants shouldn't know so much about the history of Orange county—it makes people think her older than she is.

Due to an error, the account of Mrs. Pleasant's accident this week, in which she was struck by an automobile and severely injured, listed her age as 80.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Pleasants is one of the county's pioneers and the author of the history of Orange county, gleaned largely from personal experience, she is now just nearing 65 years of age, The Journal learned today.

Speeders and Parkers Fined

Three speeding fines and 12 overtime parking tickets highlighted traffic business in Santa Ana police court yesterday.

Charles C. Freund, Huntington Park, and Ernest B. Graeber, Santa Ana, paid an $8 fine.

Roch W. Bradshaw, Santa Ana, was fined $6 for a half dozen parking tickets.

3 Speakers to Address C. of C.

Members of the chamber of commerce will hear short talks by three local men on problems of importance to Santa Ana at a luncheon meeting next Monday noon at the American Legion hall.

E. M. Sundquist, chairman of the chamber auto parking committee is to discuss parking problems in this community. Braden Finch, editor of the Santa Ana Journal, will present a five minute talk on the possibilities of new or rerouted county and city highways and streets. N. H. Hilton, well-known mining expert will make a speech on mining as it affects Orange county.

Reservations for the dinner should be made immediately at the chamber office.

Iowa Picnic Date Announced

The annual mid-winter picnic of former residents of Iowa will be held in Lincoln park, Los Angeles, on the customary last Saturday in February, instead of January as previously announced. The picnic this year will be on Saturday, Feb. 26.

SPANISH WAR VETS HEAR RELIEF TALK

One county in California has already stopped paying old age relief and others are threatening to do the same, thus imperiling the entire Old Age Security national legislation in California, Paul J. Lichtenfels of Los Angeles told 125 members and friends of the Calumpit camp, United Spanish War Veterans.

Taxes have increased from 2% to 82% in half of the counties in California, Lichetfels said.

He read a copy of a resolution, adopted by the San Francisco county board of supervisors, Dec. 13, 1937, urging Governor Merriam to use his power to apply the sales tax moneys to old age relief. The object of this move would be to remove this burden from the general property taxpayer of the state. Fourteen county boards of supervisors in the state shortly afterward adopted this resolution.

Commander Albert P. Dresser presided at last night's meeting. Music was furnished by Calvin Groves, Lavon Hall, Miss Shirley Vaddle, Gatherine Stockton, Mrs. Harry Brackett, Doris Faupel. A reading was given by Elizabeth Koutney and a dance number was presented by Laven Hall.

Committee in charge of the dinner were: Past-President Jean Tantlinger, chairman; Past Commander Walter W. Tantlinger, Past Commander and Mrs. John J. Williams, Past Commander and Mrs. Charles W. Winter, Past Commander and Mrs. Charles E. Waffle, Senior Vice-commander and Mrs. Jacob B. Wine and Past President Emma King Wassum and Arthur F. Hammond.

Commander Dresser and President Louella Randel each received birthday cakes at the affair last night. Announcement was made that Mrs. Effie Hawley will entertain members of the auxiliary sewing circle Feb. 9 at her home, 320 E. Chestnut street.

O. E. S. Gives High Honor To Woman

One of the rare honors bestowed by the Order of the Eastern Star was tendered Mrs. Tillie McBride, member of Scepter chapter of Orange Thursday night, when a 50-year pin was presented to her in the presence of 300 members and friends.

Mrs. McBride and her husband, T. C. McBride, her son-in-law, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bleecker and son Eugene of San Diego, were informally escorted to the east by Miss Helen Gillogly acting marshal, following the regular chapter meeting, and after non-members had been admitted to the chapter room. Present also was Mrs. Mary S. Wells, former member and charter member of the Mary S. Wells chapter in Osborne, Kan., where Mrs. McBride became a member 50 years ago. Other guests included Mrs. Helen Louise Edwards, Fullerton, grand conductress of the state of California; Mrs. Jennie Shipe, deputy grand matron of district 60; Mrs. Helen Lurker, worthy matron of Hermosa chapter, Santa Ana; Mrs. Sue Henry, member of Santa Ana chapter; Miss Lillian Rivers, worthy matron of Fullerton chapter; Harold Hale, worthy patron of the same chapter; Hermina Lowe, worthy matron of Yorba Linda chapter; Mrs. Estella Fisher, Oskaloosa, Iowa; Mrs. Gertrude Burgess and Mrs. Lena Lyons, Stockbridge, Mich.; Mrs. Cecile W. Bond, Mt. Vernon, Ill., Mrs. Beulah Miller, Ventura.

The presentation speech was made by Worthy Matron Gelsemina Eye, and the pin was handed to his grandmother by small Eugene Bleecker. Mrs. Nora Finley presented the guest of honor with a huge box of flowers, the gift of the chapter. Mrs. Audrey I. Peterson gave a pianologue, words of which were written by Mrs. Gelsemina Eye, and dedicated to Mrs. McBride. Mrs. Jennie Shipe stated that only once before had she seen a 50-year pin presented. Mrs. Helen L. Edwards spoke, as did Mrs. Mary S. Wells.

The chorus of the Business and Professional Women's club, directed by Marie M. Daugherty, sang three numbers, and later refreshments were served in the banquet room by Mrs. E. J. Browne and committee. Favors were gold on blue, inscribed with "Tillie McBride, 50 years." Blue and gold candles, jonquils and double yellow nasturtiums centered the table. Mrs. Iva Reeves Lee, Mrs. Vesta Tracy and Mrs. Ruth Chase Wheeler assisted.

Flowers for decoration were donated by Mrs. Edna Watson Graham, Santa Ana. Community singing at the tables closed the program, each song written in honor of Mrs. McBride.

CLUB FETED BY MRS. MURPHY

Mrs. J. P. Murphy was hostess to members of El Paseo Tiempo club in her home, 915 Minter street, on Wednesday afternoon. She served a dessert course at valentine decorated tables, tallies carrying the same motif. The red of lovely poinsettias carried out the theme in the room.

All the members were present and following an afternoon of contract, prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. B. Collier, Mrs. J. P. Murphy, Mrs. Nannie Belle Lester, and Mrs. Harold W. Low. Others present were Mrs. Carl Klatt, Mrs. P. C. Dietler, Mrs. L. M. Banks, and Mrs. Charles Borchard.

PASTORS, WIVES ENTERTAINED AT DINNER

As a special prelude to Wednesday night's "Orange County night" at the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland were host and hostess at a charming dinner party in their home, 303 Orange avenue.

Guests at the dinner were all Presbyterian ministers of Orange county and their wives. Later they adjourned to the church for the special program.

Mrs. McFarland centered her dinner tables with a large bowl of white stocks, with flanking tapers in white pottery candlesticks. She was assisted in serving by her daughter, Miss Alice Clair McFarland, and a friend, Miss Peggy Holloway.

Guests of the McFarlands were Dr. and Mrs. Graham Hunter of Fullerton, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Burns McAulay of Orange, the Rev. and Mrs. Raymond I. Brahams of Laguna Beach, the Rev. and Mrs. David Brigham of Placentia, Captain Albert N. Park of San Juan Capistrano, the Rev. Sohei Kowta of the Wintersburg Japanese church, the Rev. and Mrs. George Greer of Westminster.

BIRTHDAY IS INCENTIVE FOR PARTY

A charming courtesy to Miss Esther Belle Christian was extended on Wednesday evening, when her mother, Mrs. Guy Christian entertained with a five o'clock dinner in celebration of her 18th birthday, at the family home on Santa Clara avenue.

The dinner table was beautifully arranged with a centerpiece of pink peach blossoms and yellow jasmine. The same pastel motif was repeated in other party appointments, including a birthday cake, candles, and placecards.

The guests followed the dinner by playing two guessing games, later adjourning to the Masonic temple for the Job's Daughters meeting. Those present were Miss Beth Kellans, Miss Emily Bouchard, Miss Beth Francis, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, Miss Anne Marie Groty, Miss Rebecca Archer, Miss Barbara Gilbert, Miss Charlotte Prothero, Miss Betty Christian, Miss Margaret Coleman, Miss Lenore Marchant, Miss Dorothy Allen.

VISITORS FETED BY HOSTESS

A group of out-of-town relatives were pleasantly feted this week by Mrs. Frank B. Browning. House guests for several days were her cousins, Mrs. Fannie Browning Wragg of Jerome, Idaho and Mrs. Harriet B. Baird of Homer, Ill., as well as her sister, Miss Mabel Butler of Oakland. The quartet, in company with Miss Suzanne Claycomb, drove to San Diego Tuesday and returned yesterday noon.

That evening they were joined at a farewell supper at Daniger's by another cousin of the visitors, Dr. Mary E. Wright. The cousins left later for Los Angeles where they are spending the winter.

Hope Is Topic For Pierian Members

For a program on "Hope," conducted by Mrs. Mary E. Perdew, members of the Pierian club gathered yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Earl Ladd, 514 Wisteria place.

Spring flowers throughout the home formed a charming setting for the program, preceded by a brief business period with Mrs. Helen E. Guthrie presiding. A special feature of the day was the presentation of a lovely corsage to Mrs. Agnes D. Bond.

Four guests were present for the meeting, with a guest prize being awarded to Mrs. Edna Jones, and a birthday gift to Mrs. H. M. Kinslow. A letter was read from Mrs. Jean Bohlander, a member who now makes her home in Los Angeles.

Members were invited to be the guests of Mrs. E. G. Warner, 1516 Willits street, during the next session, scheduled for Feb. 24 at 1:30 p. m. The subject at that time will be "Sonnets and Dreams."

Highlighting the program of original contributions, which included vocal solos sung by Mrs. Charles Brisco. They were "Whistling in the Rain" and "Traveling with You," words written by Mrs. Bond and music by Damaris Hulin. Mrs. Edna Jones played two piano selections, "Prelude" by McDowell and "Whither" by Koelling.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Elsie Lee Huffine, who read "Founding of San Antonio" and "Words Are Fun," Mrs. Harriet Birtcher reading "My Pacific Yard," Mrs. Bertha Y. Braden reading "The Desert — Triolet" and "In January," and Mrs. Edna Jones reading "My Son," "Harmony," and "Morning Music."

Members with their selections are Mrs. Ethel Gerrard, "The Hope Which Sustains;" Mrs. Margaret K. Church, "A Bit of Blue;" Mrs. Mary E. Perdew, "Hope" and "My Garden;" Mrs. F. A. Davis, now in Washington, D. C., sent "Sunshine and Shadows;" Mrs. Helen E. Guthrie, "Gleams;" Mrs. E. G. Warner, "Hope Reborn" and "An Old Man's Wish;" Mrs. Agnes D. Bond, "Anchor of Hope;" Mrs. Olive M. Watkins, "What Hope?" "Hope Is a Lifeline," and "Hope Returns;" Mrs. Earl Ladd, "Sunset on the Plains" and "Hope."

Others present for the afternoon were Mrs. Jennie Crawford, Mrs. H. M. Kinslow, Mrs. Rose Havely, Miss Dorothy Ladd.

MRS. HOILES IS ASSISTED BY EBELL TRIO

Mrs. Clarence Hoiles' spacious home on Victoria drive proved to be a pleasant setting last night for the January meeting of the Thursday Evening Literary section of Ebell club.

Mrs. John Cloyes devoted most of her time during the program period to a review of "Queen's Folly," a novel by Elswyth Fane, but delighted her audience with an impromptu sketch and review of "The Women," noted New York play now showing in Los Angeles.

A salad course concluded the evening, served by Mrs. Hoiles and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Lynn Crawford, Mrs. Milo K. Tedstrom and Mrs. H. A. Moomaw.

Special guests for the evening were Mrs. Carroll Nisewanger, Mrs. J. H. Brennecke and Mrs. P. E. Johnson. Members present were the Misses Dorothy Forgy, Hazel Thrasher, Katherine Smith, Helen Glancy, Esther Rideout and the Mesdames Wendell Finley, Eugene Robinson, Kenneth Ranney, Merton Butler, Mervyn Bryte, Ferris Scott, Aubrey Glines, Robert Biles, Newell Moore, Stanley Reinhaus, Henry Williams, Cassius Paul, E. R. Russell and E. D. White.

SHRINE MEETING IS POSTPONED

Damascus White Shrine members were reminded today that a meeting scheduled for tonight would not be held until Monday at the Masonic temple. At that time Elma E. Hullinger, supreme worthy high priestess, and Walter J. Combellack, supreme watchman of the shepherds, will be honor guests.

A turkey dinner at 6:30 p. m. will precede the meeting Monday.

GARDEN SECTION HAS MEETING

Indoor gardens and methods of rose-pruning were discussed at yesterday's meeting of Garden section of Ebell club, with Mrs. Richard Pagett, leader, presiding.

Mrs. R. A. McMahon was hostess to the group and served refreshments in pleasantly informal style. It was announced that Mrs. E. M. Waycott would be hostess to the group Feb. 24.

THREE REVIEWS HEARD BY BOOK CLUB

Mrs. Claude Russell was hostess to members of the Fullerton Morning Book club in her home, 705 North Richmond street, Fullerton, on Wednesday, for the first meeting of their new program.

The monthly club has adopted a new policy of having 10 three-minute reviews of new books and current events, and three 20-minute reviews at each meeting.

On Wednesday, Mrs. M. M. Henderson reviewed "Life and Death of a Spanish Town" by Elliott Paul, Mrs. Lyman Scheel reviewed "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin, and Mrs. F. H. Gobar spoke on Kipling's biography, "Something of Myself."

Members present included Mrs. Leland Davy of Santa Ana, Mrs. Shailer Arnold and Miss Florence Durkee of Anaheim, and the following from Fullerton, Mrs. W. T. Boyce, Mrs. M. M. Bullis, Mrs. O. H. Clever, Mrs. Reid Corbett, Mrs. Ray Fellows, Mrs. W. H. Fowler, Mrs. Fred Fuller, Mrs. David Stevenson, Mrs. Carl Sturdy, Mrs. C. W. Trotter, Mrs. E. Von Gruenigan, Mrs. Fred Withers, Mrs. Carl Wolf, Mrs. F. H. Gobar, Mrs. M. M. Henderson, Mrs. Lyman Scheel, and the hostess.

PIANO ARTISTS HAVE TRUE AFFINITY

"A glorious couple," wrote the distinguished critic, Redfern Mason, in the Boston Transcript on Jan. 13, 1937, folowing the appearance of Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson. "Another pair to be added to the Brownings, to Halle and Neruda, and to Edward MacDowell and his wife!"

Eminently successful are the internationally known piano duo, Bartlett and Robertson who, after having had enviable individual careers, now win triumph together in recitals of music for two pianos. Ethel Bartlett, a native of London, has been called "one of England's most beautiful women." Rae Robertson is a Scotsman and an M. A. of Edinburgh university.

As students they fell in love and married. As rising young pianists they found separate achievements incompatible with mutual happiness. They solved their problem brilliantly. Their first joint concert was a sensation. Since then their names have become internationally famous.

A happy blending of two personalities and two instruments in programs of unusual interest make Bartlett-Robertson concerts events wherever they are heard. Returning for their eighth American tour during 1937-28, they will play in this city on Feb. 4 at Santa Ana High school auditorium, as second program on this year's musical arts concert series.

SHRINE CIRCLE HOSTESSED BY QUARTET

A pleasant afternoon of bridge followed a delicious luncheon enjoyed this week by members of White Shrine Circle when they were guests of the Mesdames Elizabeth Lewis, Dorothy French, Emma Henry, and Maude Wiley.

At contract Della Maude Ryan scored high, and Katherine Reed scored low, while auction prizes went to Stella Workman and Ada Sutherland. Hostesses next month will be Della Maude Ryan, Marie Beisel, Florence Wright, and Pearl Hyde.

Present at the January meeting were the Mesdames Sue Henry, Lena Heaston, Inez Orton, Helen Neal, Eva McConnell, Florence Wright, Katherine Reed, Lillian Dawson, Pearl Hyde, Marie Patterson, Marie Beisel, Jennie Shipe, Della Maude Ryan, Nellie Young, Florence Tralle, Dorothy French, Lillian Whittit, Ada Smith, Vada Berry, Emma Henry, Stella Workman, and Dolly Pope.

HUMANE GROUP MEETS MONDAY

Humane society members and interested friends are urged to attend a meeting of that group Monday at 8 p. m. at Weber's Bakery rooms.

Charles D. Ocain will preside, and those with unpaid dues are asked to send them to Mrs. Eugene Robinson, secretary, at 2103 North Flower street.

TWO FEBRUARY EVENTS PLANNED BY WOMEN

Plans for two major events to take place in February were made at a meeting of the executive board of the Baptist Women's Society this week when that group met for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Russell Crouse.

First on the program will be a meeting Feb. 2 at which time Miss Viola Hill, prominent missionary in China, and a former Santa Ana girl, will be honored guest and speaker. On her third furlough from China, she will discuss "Windows Which Missions Are Opening Upon the Lives of Chinese Women."

Plans also were made for the sixtieth anniversary of the Women's Baptist Home Mission Society, which will be celebrated Feb. 17, and which will feature a play, "Lighting the Candle."

It was announced that the church's annual school of world friendship will begin Feb. 6 and continue for six Sundays.

MARY HAMPTON'S Column

LOS ANGELES. — At exactly this time last winter I awoke one morning in Palm Springs and found the water in the road's ruts filled with ice! And down in Imperial valley, whither curiosity had taken me, the amazed gas station boy pulled a six-inch icicle from under the edge of the dripping water hose! And yet this year just two days ago it was warm enough to wear a spring silk, and even today my light wool coat feels just right!

When winter comes to California, dressing is a matter of fate and preparedness. Anything can happen from snow to summer sun—so anything must be ready in our wardrobe.

As you can see, I am state-trotting again. For there is that thing called "Market Week" about to take place here in the South about which I have much gay news to tell from now on—and I must see the smart crowds at Santa Anita and then down in Riverside there is to be a publishers' convention, and I thought I would just drop in. It gives me an excuse also to stop over once more at the glorious Mission inn which I love so enthusiastically.

Now for some cross-state climatic reports, which may help those of you who are trotting about as well.

Back in San Francisco there were not enough sweaters and wool scarfs and undies in my whole wardrobe to keep me feeling warm enough—to say nothing of coats! I even looked at flannel nighties—which, by the way—are delightfully modern now. They come in modern prints and are made with empire waistlines and Peter-Pan collars and various other new and smart details. And then—there are the real nice knitted things which look smarter and smarter as the nights get colder! They say college girls all wear one sort or another now.

At Bakersfield I wondered why I had worn so many sweaters, and even opened my small case and exchanged my wool scarf for a silk one.

On top of Tehachepi I stopped for coffee and a peek at the historic Lebec valley which was white with deep snow last year at this time. This year it was golden with sunshine, and little children in the nearby school yard at recess were playing without sweaters even.

Los Angeles seemed warmer than it was, by contrast, although it was scowling a bit with rain intentions. This is to be a win for smart rubber coats instead of fur it seems. Of course, I do not actually mean that about fur, for every woman wears fur throughout the winter for sheer smartness, all apart from warmth. And right here is where those cellophane capes are better than anywhere else. They look rather congenial over a fur coat—for the coat shows smartly and yet the fur is not injured by too much water. These transparent rain capes can look a little messy at times when a clutter of costumes shows through beneath. But the entity of a single suit for coat or fur coat beneath it develops quite a good fashion angle.

Nuptials Are Forecast At Meeting

Announcement of the forthcoming nuptials of Miss Mary Gross and Jack Kendall came as a complete surprise to more than 40 members and guests of Magnolia Circle, Royal Neighbors of America, yesterday afternoon when they were meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Gross.

The hostess had served a delicious luncheon, which was climaxed by arrival of a creamery truck with a boxed dessert. Upon opening it, it was found to be a confection upon which were the iced words "Mary and Jack, Sometime in March."

Special guests present for the occasion were Mrs. Mabel Kendall, mother of the groom-elect, and his sister, Miss Hum Kendall.

At a business session later over which Mrs. Etta Sweet presided in the absence of Mrs. Clara Blackwell featured election of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Isobel Fink was named president, Mrs. Pearl Laub vice-president, Mrs. Etta Sweet secretary, and Mrs. Ethel Manderscheid treasurer.

Delightful musical numbers were presented by the hostess and her talented daughters, Mrs. Gladys Harmond, Miss Mary Gross, Miss Gertrude Gross, and Mrs. Ethel Gross, and special guests for the day were Mrs. Hilda Knox, Mrs. Elmer Thackerey, and Mrs. Edward Harmon, as well as Mrs. Kendall and Miss Kendall.

THREE ARE INITIATED IN LOCAL BETHEL

Initiation of three new members, installation of new officers, and celebration of January birthdays occupied Job's Daughters on Wednesday evening when they met in the Masonic Temple.

Miss Margaret Abel, honored queen, presided at the session, assisted by Miss Barbara Morse and Miss Ioleen Gibbs as substitute officers. Miss Naomi Knipe was installed informally as chaplain, to succeed Miss Virginia Waters, who resigned recently.

During initiation rites, Miss Vera Head, Miss Eugenia Bond, and Miss Velma Hohen, became new members. Special gifts were presented by the bethel to January birthday celebrants, including Miss Margaret Abel, Miss Mary Crowe, Miss Lorraine Tarbox, Miss Barbara Vorce, and Miss Esther Belle Christian.

Refreshments were served to the 60 members present by a committee consisting of Miss Adelaide Johnson and Miss Esther Belle Christian. Members voted to hold a donut sale next week, and those appointed to serve refreshments at the next stated meeting were Miss Betty Carlson, Miss Barbara Vorce, Miss Ellen Neal, Miss Doris Faupell, Miss Goldie and Miss Doris Jacobs.

MATINEE PARTY IS PLANNED

A matinee party to attend a performance of "The Women" at the Los Angeles Biltmore theater, followed by dinner at a Los Angeles cafe is being planned by a group of Santa Anans, for Saturday afternoon.

Planning to take part are Miss Trythall, Miss Ruth Frothingham, Miss Mildred Frazier, Miss Edith Pithie, Miss Josephine Arnoldy, Miss Ruth Rowland, Miss Marian Campbell of Hilo, T. H., Miss Thelma Thomas, Mrs. Frances Frothingham, Mrs. Edith Thatcher, and Mrs. Clyde Cook.

Lowered Waistline

It's dropping! Note the suggestion of hip-girdle in this dance frock, which has no accenting whatever of the normal waistline. It's made of soft lace with a beaded collar clasp as its only trim.

LARGE GROUP ENJOYS PARTY AT MEYERS'

Mrs. David Meyers opened her attractive Heliotrope drive home to members of Fidelis class of the First Baptist church this week for a party-meeting at which Mrs. Sue Mae Joiner, Mrs. George A. Jenkins, Mrs. Anna Egan and Miss Minnie Cole were co-hostesses.

A covered dish luncheon was served from tables beautifully decorated with embroidered cloths, white pottery and white and yellow hyacinths. Special cakes honored birthday celebrants, who included Mrs. Mary Talbott, Mrs. W. H. McMurphy, Mrs. Perry Grout and Miss Mabel Brown.

The afternoon was spent in sewing for the Red Cross after Mrs. J. R. Farwell had read an interesting paper on the Home Missionary society's 60th anniversary Feb. 17.

Present were the Mesdames Eleanor M. Minter, W. S. Hunsaker, H. A. DeWolfe, Grace Blanchar, Augusta Whitney, J. R. Farwell, Marie Klingenberg, Gertrude Lamb, Nina Glenn, David Meyers, Jessie Hosea, Charles McDonald, Robert Hammerstead, Lilly M. Lawrence, G. W. Spurrier, T. F. Crawford, A. T. Davis.

The Mesdames W. F. Dietrich, Nora Ritner, Edna Machander, W. C. Wilson, Mit Phillips, George Mason, Robbie Harrison, Bertha Asbury, Flora Dolbee, Mabel E. Brown, Maxie Wilson, H. I. Pearson, Lilly Marchant, E. Stephenson, George W. Jenkins A. M. Robinson, Anna Egan, Susie Mae Joiner, O. S. Catland, Ida Wiebe, Dorothy Thomas, Miss Grace Frederickson, Miss Minnie Cole, and Miss Mary Jane Farwell.

New Minister Honored At Reception

Six hundred members of the Methodist church and friends were present at last night's formal reception honoring the new pastor of the local First Methodist church, Dr. C. E. Holman, and Mrs. Holman.

The affair was both impressively formal and delightfully informal, for friendliness was the keynote despite formal attire and reception conduct.

In the receiving line was a group of prominent matrons of the church, foremost among whom was Mrs. Holman, wearing a gracious frock of dubonnet lace. Others were Mrs. G. E. Bruns in handsome black velvet, Mrs. George P. Ames in colorful flowered silk, Mrs. W. J. Taylor in jewel-toned red velvet, and Mrs. O. H. Barr, stately in black velvet. Standing with them were their husbands, and Miss Marjorie Holman, daughter of the new pastor wearing a pretty gown of yellow crepe.

S. S. Vogt acted as master of ceremonies at a program which added still greater pleasure to the event: Launching it was community singing, led by Halstead McCormac, to the organ accompaniment of Christine Lambert Rees, and after an invocation delivered by J. Hastie Odgers, pastor of the Richland Avenue Methodist church, greetings were extended by representatives of the various departments of the church.

Among those speaking briefly were Shirley Anderson and David Cook for the children's groups; Miss Jeanette McCormac for the youths' department; Mrs. J. W. McCormac for the Associated Women, who also presented Mrs. Holman with a lovely bouquet through Mrs. C. E. Lawrence; R. R. Lutes for the Methodist Men; Mrs. Golden Weston for the educational workers; Dr. J. W. Stracht for the choir; and the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, on behalf of the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

A special musical selection was "That Tired Feeling," written for the occasion by W. A. Taylor and Dr. J. W. Stracht. It was sung by the Rusty Hinge quartet composed of Horace Evans, Gustav Kohler, R. I. Matthews and C. L. Anderson, who later sang another selection.

Mrs. Irma Rutter sang two solos, "Mountains" by Oscar Radach and "Homing" by Arthur L. Salmon, and cello selections were played by Edward Burns. Accompanist for all the musical selections was played by Mrs. Ralph Gordon (Esther Vogt).

As a pleasant sequel to the evening's program, which concluded with the introduction of the new pastor and his family, the entire large group adjourned to the social hall which had been beautifully decorated with masses of spring flowers. There an informal reception took place, followed by the serving of tea from lovely tables.

Add a teaspoon of vinegar to each cup of furniture polish to increase its brilliancy. Shoe polishes may also be treated in this manner.

SONJA PICTURE OPENS TODAY

Happy tidings for moviegoers came true today when the Broadway theater opened with a presentation of "Happy Landing," a show aglow with joy-laden wonder, winging from gay Norseland festivals to New York wintertime spectacles with radiant Sonja Henie starred with her "One in a Million" sweetheart, Don Ameche.

This musical of superlative splendor comes to the screen with the story of a song-writer band leader, Cesar Romero, who flies across the Atlantic for a publicity stunt and comes down in a Norwegian fogbank—almost in the middle of a folk festival known as a "Bride's Fair." The custom which starts the trouble is a rule that if a young man dances twice with the same girl at the party, he has proposed.

The band leader, a little bit amused because one lovelorn little girl is giving plenty of her favorite food—hero worship—dances twice with Sonja Henie. That starts the silvery, sumptuous show on its way. Don Ameche, the flying baton-wielder's companion, knows there is little or no sincere interest in Romeo's attentions, inasmuch as he is very much engaged to an American girl, Ethel Merman. In the film there are colorful winter carnivals, the glittering gaieties of Paris and Miami, the breathless ice ballets of New York roof-gardens, and romantic songs without end. Jean Hersholt, the Raymond Scott quintet and others are featured.

The second attraction in "City Girl," a dramatic gangster story featuring Phyllis Brooks, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Wilcox, Douglas Fowley and others. The story concerns a girl who, to escape her poverty-stricken home, turns her back on a struggling young attorney for a gang leader. How her decision leads to dramatic and thrilling events forms the basis for the story.

GRACE MOORE MUSICAL ENDS

An exultant fiesta of song, comedy and romance, the new Grace Moore starring film, "I'll Take Romance," featuring handsome Melvyn Douglas, Stuart Erwin and Helen Westley, will show for the last times tonight at the West Coast theater, according to Manager George King.

Musicall, "I'll Take Romance" surpasses all previous Moore hits in the importance, variation and discrimination of her numerous renditions. For those who prefer the classic arias, Miss Moore sings the Drinking Song from "La Traviata," the Gavotte from "Manon," the quintet and finale of the third act of "Martha," and finally, as a climax, the duet from "Madame Butterfly," in which Frank Forest, sensational young tenor, appears.

For the swing fans Miss Moore, in harmony, so to speak, with Melvyn Douglas and Stuart Erwin, offers that hot, low-down ditty, "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain," which probably serves as an encore to the rousing reception of Miss Moore's swing rendition of "Minnie the Moocher" in "When You're in Love." In a diverting interlude, Miss Moore sings the infectious song of French music halls, "Paree," and in the more romantic moments, she regales Melvyn Douglas with the lilting strains of "I'll Take Romance," especially written for her.

The story cavorts amiably through New York's night clubs and pent houses and winds up in the Argentine under the highly advertised Pampas moon.

The second attraction on the closing bill is "Under Suspicion," a bizarre tale of man surrounded by "friends," each of whom would like to see him dead. The dramatic thriller affords Jack Holt his most interesting and powerful role to date. The cast includes Katherine DeMille, Luis Alberni and Rosalind Keith.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD. — Plenty has been written about the Lubitsch touch, the Capra magic, the DeMille flair for spectacle, the Rouben Mamoulin artistry and so on. Today's consideration, for a change, is of Bacon "salad dressing."

Lloyd Bacon, our condiment mixer, is not a director about whose "touch" the critics rave. In arty circles there is room for doubt that his name is mentioned even casually. But in the studio business office, where Art is just a nickname for a guy named Arthur, and figures are black or red but always cold, they salaam. Currently the figures are telling an interesting tale: "The Life of Emile Zola," which is art, is grossing less than "Submarine D-1," which is Bacon.

That is nothing new in pictures, of course. Bacon would be the last man to suggest that "Submarine D-1" is a better picture than "Zola." Bacon acknowledges, but not humbly, that he is a "commercial director.

THE INGREDIENTS

"It's safer," he says, content to let the other fellow make the prestige pictures. A prestige picture, in case you haven't heard, is one that costs a lot of money which may or may not be returned. A commercial picture can cost a lot, too, but it's less of a gamble. Which brings us to Bacon "salad dressing."

"We just mix up the ingredients so there's something in the picture to appeal to all ages," he explains. "Love, drama, action, comedy—sometimes music and dancing—and we don't slight hokum, which is always great box-office. I figure if a picture will draw the kids, it's a hit. Because the little fellows will want to go, and they'll take mamma and papa. That's three tickets sold instead of one."

Son of the late Frank Bacon of "Lightnin'" fame, the director has been through the mill of show business and movie life, first as actor, later as writer and gag man, finally as director. He stopped acting when he decided Bacon was close kin to Ham, and greying temples wouldn't handicap a man behind the camera. Also, there was something in the thought that an actor, be he ever so good, was dependent on the director for proper presentation. A director, familiar with "salad dressing," could always work out his own success.

COLORFUL FELLOW

Among directors, besides a reputation for consistent box-office success—and some really worthy pictures to boot—Bacon has the record for clothes-consciousness and extent of wardrobe. He goes for colors—vivid green topcoat, pink or blue or orange shirts, checkered coats—and the effect is a sartorial rainbow.

After lunch at the Lakeside golf club the other day, Bacon, in passing, dropped a quarter into a slot machine. The thing paid off 10-to-1.

"A windfall for Hap's bank," he chuckled. (Hap is his month-old son, Frank.)

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These program notes are in addition to the Mutual Network Features over KVOE commented on above in Tom E. Danson's column.

Remember The Journal broadcasts News every day at 8:30 a. m.; 12:30 4:30, 9:00 p. m.; Chat Awhile With Betty—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 11:30 a. m.

As its contribution to the third annual MacDowell festival celebrations being arranged currently throughout the nation, tonight from 8 to 8:30, KVOE will offer a special program featuring Frederick Stark's orchestra and Gertrude Cleofus, concert pianist, introduced by Edward Lynn, national radio chairman of the festival, who will explain purposes and accomplishments of the annual celebration.

Stark will divide his concert between the compositions of MacDowell and the MacDowell Colonists of Peterborough, New Hampshire, as follows:

1. Woodland Sketches..MacDowell
   To a Wild Rose
   To a Water Lily
   Told at Sunset
2. Red Rock Gnomes.....
   ....Charles Wakefield Cadman
3. Deer Dance.....Skelton

Miss Cleofus piano concert will be MacDowell's first movement from his Second Piano Concerto.

A blow-by-blow description of the Max Schmeling-Ben Foord heavyweight bout from Hamburg, Germany, will be heard exclusively over the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system and KVOE this Sunday, Jan. 30, from 11:15 a. m. to 12:15 noon, P.S.T.

The fight, scheduled to go 12 rounds, will take place in mammoth Hanseatenhalle stadium, and is one of the first important bouts to be held in Germany in many years.

The voices of a double octette and a male quartet, singing a variety of choral selections, will be introduced to the weekly Los Angeles College Radio Guild program on KVOE and the Don Lee network, this evening at 5:30.

Directed by Jack Perkins, the octette will feature the popular fraternity songs, "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and "Violets;" also "Exultation" and "Now Is the Month of May."

"Heart's the Thing" titles the original dramatic sketch, written by Doris Timbs and enacted by the Los Angeles Jaysee players.

* * *

Tall Corn Time, a hillbilly show with a definite corn flavor, is airing at 8 a. m. Saturdays over the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system and via KVOE.

The program originates in Des Moines in the heart of the cornbelt.

While the setup primarily features hillbilly music, it is strung together with entertaining continuity. A country newspaper office peopled with a tarty old editor and a hard-bitten assistant, who in turn are pestered and entertained by the town musicians, are the features on which the program hinges.

Further comparisons between European and American radio fare may be heard when the second in a series of broadcasts of popular London programs reaches American dialers via KVOE and the Mutual network tomorrow from 12 noon to 1 p. m., P.S.T.

This week's presentation, London's popular "Music Hall," stars Clapham and Dwyer, Ethel Revnell and Grace West, "The Two Oddments," and the British Broadcasting corporation Variety orchestra, led by Charles Shadwell.

* * *

Making way for the "Music Hall" broadcast, via short-wave from London, England, from 12 noon until 1 p. m. tomorrow, the KVOE-Journal news broadcast will be scheduled at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. For the same reason, "Cecil and Sally" will be heard on KVOE at 1:15, with the grain and stock market quotations being scheduled at 1:45.

* * *

The Carnegie Tech Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. J. Vick O'Brien, will feature selections from the opera "Carmen" by Bizet, and Overture to Iphigenia in Aulis, by Gluck, on their broadcast from Pittsburgh over the Mutual network and from KVOE tomorrow morning.

* * *

When Benay Venuta comes to the air with the second of her new variety porgrams tomorrow morning from 11 to 12 noon, she will take her "cues" from two of the most noted billiard experts, Willie Schaeffer and Welker Cochran.

Schaeffer, 28.2 billiard champion, and Cochran, three cushion title holder, will pause in their championship match at the Strand Billiard academy for an interview with Dave Driscoll of the WOR special features division.

Miss Venuta further distinguishes herself by writing the scripts of her new program, in addition to being mistress of ceremonies and featured vocalist.

* * *

"This Wonderful World," heard on KVOE and the nationwide Mutual network, Saturdays from 9:15 to 9:30 a. m. will originate in the dome of the Hayden planeterium, instead of the rotunda of the American Museum of Natural History, as heretofore.

These programs, designed to be of interest to young and old, cover the wide range in nature that swings from the stars to the bottom of the sea, and covers every life zone on the globe from the prehistoric past to the history-making present.

Taking part in the program are visitors to the Hayden planetarium who are queried on natural science by Masters of Ceremonies Bob Emery, Robert Coles and Emil Berg of the museum staff.

Henry Ward Beecher held a slave auction in a New York church in 1856 to win support for the abolitionist movement.

Historical Drama On First Nighter

By TOM E. DANSON

● "The Great Bell of the Kremlin," an historical drama by Edwin M. Marshall, will be presented in the Little Theater Off Times Square during the First Nighter broadcast tonight from 7 to 7:30 over the KFI-NBC Red network.

Tom E. Danson

The play, based on an episode in the lives of a Russian family at the time of Napoleon's march on Moscow, will star Les Tremayne in the role of Nicholas, and Barbara Luddy as his sweetheart, Anna.

The climax of the drama is reached when Nicholas, who has returned to Moscow after escaping from Napoleon's army, checks the invasion by ringing the great bell of the Kremlin as a signal for the burning of Moscow

☆ ☆ ☆

● Jack Oakie deserts the campus of his CBS "Oakie College" tonight to appear in a preview of "Radio City Revels," his newest RKO picture, on the "Hollywood Hotel" broadcast from 6 to 7 p. m. over KNX-CBS.

Other members of the film's cast participating in the preview include Milton Berle, Kenny Baker, Bob Burns, Victor Moore and Ann Miller. George Murphy, Irish funster, will appear as master-of-ceremonies.

☆ ☆ ☆

● Of particular interest to all employers in Southern California will be the special broadcast from KVOE tonight at 8:45, by Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue Joseph Peterson, concerning the remittance of social security taxes. The purpose of the broadcast is to assist employers in the proper execution of their forms and to prevent as many errors as possible. Forms "SS-2" and "SS-2a" will be discussed in detail.

☆ ☆ ☆

● Howard Marshall, well-known BBC commentator, will renew his acquaintance with NBC listeners tonight in a new series of weekly talks on what "They're Saying in England." The programs will be broadcast from the British Isles every Friday from 6:15 to 6:30 p. m., over the KECA-NBC Blue network.

No stranger to NBC listeners, Marshall will be remembered for his series of talks during the weeks preceding the coronation last spring and for his description of the coronation ceremony as one of NBC's commentators. He was also the commentator in Westminster Abbey during the wedding of the Duke of Kent.

☆ ☆ ☆

● Soulfully sweet music played by Claude Sweeten and his violin, forms a sparkling setting in a golden ring of melodious rhythm fashioned by KEHE'S salon ensemble tonight at 8:30. Under the title of "Music by Sweeten," this refreshing quarter hour of tuneful arrangements attains a nearness to musical perfection that is both entertaining and educational to music lovers.

Listen for "Music by Sweeten" each Friday evening at 8:30 on KEHE.

☆ ☆ ☆

● The classic operatic melody, "Martha" (All so Pure), will receive a 1938 swingtime treatment when songstress Connie Boswell steps before the CBS microphone tonight in sharing guest-star honors with tunesmith Johnny Mercer on Paul Whiteman's broadcast from 8:30 to 9 p. m. over KNX.

Miss Boswell's recently made recording of "Martha" is breaking sales records for vocal solos throughout the entire country, and Fatho Whiteman has prepared a special arrangement to justify the popular acclaim accorded her "platter" presentation.

☆ ☆ ☆

● A group of wild animals become allied with the "Lone Ranger" when the masked rider brings some murderers to justice during the exciting episode heard on KVOE tonight at 7:30.

☆ ☆ ☆

● Graft, corruption and scandal which bubbles in the Los Angeles political pot as the result of the attempted assassination of Harry Raymond, fills the news columns of the day.

But according to veteran Detective Nick Harris, "When It All Comes Home," the crooked coppers and pulling politicians are rewarded by the just laws of compensation.

When the noted detective presents his dramatized crime story over KECA tonight at 9 o'clock, titled "When It All Comes Home," he will include the behind-the-scenes workings of a police force. Produced by John Edwards, the drama features Ernie Adams and Carolyn Caro, with a lengthy cast of well-known radio actors. Wesley Tourtellotte is heard at the KFI-KECA organ.

About Folks

News of Your Family and Journal Welcomes It. Telephone 3600.

Miss Helen Gallagher received word this week from her brother, John Gallagher, that he has been transferred from the San Francisco office of an insurance company to the Southern Oregon territory, where he will be located in Eugene.

Mrs. B. R. Moshier of Sandusky, Ohio, who is wintering in Long Beach, has been in Santa Ana almost daily visiting with her cousin, Miss Helen Gallagher.

Miss Francine Hilmert, who was called to Chicago because of the death of her father, has just returned to her home, 117 East Washington street.

Mrs. O. Hurst of Chicago, wife of the chief engineer of the Rockery building in Chicago, and her six-year-old granddaughter, Patricia Hurst, have been house-guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Etteryk of Santa Ana Heights. The two families have been close friends for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark, 1617 West Tenth street, have as house-guests for two weeks the former's relatives, Mrs. J. F. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Childs and children Shirley and Frank, all from Manketo, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eddy of 709 South Shelton street are parents of a baby daughter, Barbara Joan, born Wednesday in Ramona hospital, San Bernardino.

Bacteria vary in size from 600th of an inch to a 500,000th of an inch in diameter.

PLEAS MADE FOR SHIPPING ON COAST

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Pleas for adequate aid to American merchant marine on the Pacific coast from the Federal government were made to three representatives of the maritime commission here yesterday by civic officials and shipping interests.

The hearing was called after various shipping and civic interests of the Pacific coast protested withdrawal of luxury liners from the Pacific coast. The withdrawing companies said they needed more Federal support.

"The policy of the Los Angeles port," said Roy M. Beaton, assistant general manager of the Los Angeles harbor department, "has been one of continuous cooperation with the Federal government in building and maintaining a harbor as an essential unit in the national defense as well as the development of commerce particularly in American owned vessels."

"We recommend," Clarence Matson, manager of the commerce and shipping department of the chamber of commerce, told commission representatives, "that congress provide for such adequate aid of the American merchant marine as will make possible the establishment and maintenance of American flagships on the essential trade routes around the world.

A. M. Rochlin, representing Douglas Aircraft corporation, told the authorities his company represented $14,000,000 worth of airplane shipping to South American and Australian customers.

Girl Expected As Stork Hovers Over 'It' Girl

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—It's going to be a girl at the Rex (Clara Bow) Bells.

With a broad smile, the husband of the erstwhile "It" girl confided his hopes today.

"I think it's a girl—at least I hope so," he said. The Bells have a three-year-old son.

Bell stopped off here en route to Magdalena, N. M., to purchase cattle for the Bell ranch.

Miss Wyllys Anderson announced that there will be a tennis tournament for all three grades beginning the second semester and lasting two weeks. The tennis club will be composed of the top seven of each grade. "All girls interested in the tournament may sign up on the bulletin board in the P. E. office any time this week," Miss Anderson remarked.

Working with cork is the comparatively new project in Miss Helen Glancy's eighth grade craft class. Many articles are being made from this material, among them waste baskets, tiles, and trays. A pattern is cut out with stencil in the cork and bits of twisted crepe paper are inserted in the design. Valspar is put on the surface, so it can stand the heat.

Book ends are being made of circular pieces of wood, the outside bound with rope. These modern book ends are painted with white enamel and colorful Mexican designs are painted on the surface. According to Miss Glandy the girls enjoy making these useful articles.

The Eighth Grade Girl Reserves will have a potluck supper Jan. 22 at Irvine park when transportation will be provided by the parents. There will be boating, tennis, bicycling, and a hike under the leadership of Mrs. Leroy Levins.

The newly organized pep band will begin work with Lathrop in the near future for a combined orchestra which will give a recital in the early spring, Herbert Michel, director, revealed today.

The practicing, which started off with a bang, Tuesday, Jan. 11, will follow the same plan as the glee club's. The members will be excused at the 20-minute bell of the fourth period on Wednesdays and Thursdays. Anyone who wishes to join this band should see Mr. Michel.

All of the members of the Willard Ninth Grade Girl Reserves, a national organization, will spend the week-end of Jan. 28 and 29 camping at Ema Otis Y. W. C. A. camp, according to leader, Miss Wyllys Anderson. The girls will reach camp in time for an early lunch, after which they may either visit an old mine or take a nature hike.

There the members will complete plans for their next Girl Reserve dance to be given in the near future.

At this time every year it is usual for the Girl Reserves to make this educational and enjoyable trip to camp.

Betty Banks was elected to assist Helen Butler, commissioner, at a meeting Wednesday, Jan. 12 of the home room representatives. Betty and Helen will assign members of the organization to inspect the grounds for paper. This patrol will go into effect at the beginning of the second semester, according to Mrs. Marion D. Scott and Mrs. Lucy Wright, faculty advisors.

Mrs. M. L. Scott has a most interesting exhibit in show case No. 8, of dolls dressed to represent books of foreign lands.

The display consisted of a Scotch lassie, from the book "Scotch Twins," a Russian peasant from "Tales of a Russian Grandmother," a Russian lady from "Made in Russia," a Swedish boy from "Our Little Viking Cousin of Long Ago," a Swedish girl from "Hero Tales of the Far North," a Danish girl from "Denmark Caravan," and a Swiss girl from "The Swiss Twins."

These dolls, dressed in native costumes, are from 8 to 12 inches high.

Wooden spoons, forks and bowls, which are gayly decorated with beautiful Mexican designs, made by Miss Helen Glancy's craft classes, are now arranged in an attractive display, along with colorful pottery, in a show case in the Willard halls. The pottery was returned last week from the Dudley studios in Los Angeles, where the work was glazed.

Boulder dam and the San Francisco Golden Gate and Oakland bay bridges form an interesting project studied in Mrs. Nellie Smith's L9H and B social science groups.

The social studies department gave a set of pictures of Boulder dam to the class, which, as a whole, is enjoying the reading about the San Francisco bridges and studying the history of the dam. The class is estimating the cost, depths of water, and aqueducts, while certain boys are drawing to scale the bridges and marking the difficulties met in constructing the bridges. "Billy Medor brought an excellent map of the Boulder dam and vicinity," Mrs. Smith stated. "The class is extremely interested in the dust bowl situation, as related to California's deserts. The Boulder dam will aid in transposing our deserts into fertile soil," Mrs. Smith concluded.

In Norman Hick's ninth grade electric shop class, Ralph McAndrews has started work on a two tube short wave radio, and is now learning code, as a prospect of getting an amateur license. Having finished their work books, Howard Hughett and Avery Lay are helping Mr. Hicks in constructing a five meter radio transmitter. Fred Hotchkiss is completing a two-way telegraph key and receiver.

In the eighth grade sheet metal class, Armando Sigala is leading, being the first one to finish a large round scoop. Earl Brown has finished the last of a variety of eight cookie cutters.

Nos Amici club members will leave Santa Ana at 4:30 Saturday morning, Jan. 22, for a gala snow party at Big Pines. Transportation will be furnished by Clyde Downing, R. A. Tiernan and Mrs. Norman Anderson, parents of the members. Kathleen Tiernan, sister of Sallie, will be a guest of the club.

The girls expect to arrive at Los Angeles playground at approximately 9 o'clock where they will rent such things as toboggans, skates, sleds and skis. Lunch will be served at the tavern. These plans were made at the last meeting of the club, Tuesday, Jan. 11, at the home of Francis Jean Smith.

Boy Runs Away From Mother to Seek Out Dad

NEW YORK. (AP)—A serious-faced 12-year-old boy who wants his dad and dislikes living with his mother reached the end of a runaway trial yesterday, threatening to his life "if I don't get back to my father."

The youth, Howard Frankel, who was turned over to his mother two weeks ago after a custody battle—was found asleep in an "El" train.

His second attempt to run away from his mother, Mrs. Rose Frankel in Brooklyn ended in a police station, which notified his mother to come get him. He had been missing all night.

He didn't know, he said, where he was going—not to the home of his father, Julius Frankel, of Linden, N. J., with whom he lived prior to the court order—"I wanted to go there, but I thought if I did, they might put my dad in jail."

One of the boy's objections to living with his mother, he said, "was that I don't like all the arguments."

EVERY GIRL'S CLUB

A new set of officers have been elected for the ensuing semester to lead the Every Girl's club activities. They are Ruth Mary Murphy, president; Barbara Jones, vice-president; Beverly Short, secretary; Phyllis Brockbank, treasurer; Marian Blackburn, reporter; Jean Pagencopp, cheer leader, and Marjorie Johnson, song leader.

* * *

MODERN ART WORK

The Lathrop art classes are far advanced from the old-fashioned idea of youngsters drawing original pictures of a mountain with a tree on top of it, or a stilted house with a winding road leading to it. Yes, times have changed considerably and junior high art students are really doing things worthy of the name of art and art appreciation. Under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Crumrine and Miss Mildred Tummond the various classes are showing much individualism in a wide range of work. One ninth grade class has just completed a fine piece of work in pottery, having made attractive clay bowls, vases and other articles useful as well as ornamental. Now they are starting work in chip carving of wooden blocks which are being painted and varnished and used for tea tiles or just ornaments for the home.

The eighth grade classes are working on spatter prints which is similar to stencil work. They are making interesting designs and pictures.

Seventh graders are just finishing snow scenes with chalk and pastels on black paper. These have proved intensely interesting to make and have resulted in attractive wall hangings.

Mrs. Crumrine's class in cartooning are making posters for traffic safety and forest preservation.

These give a brief idea of the interesting work going on in that department and all who visit the art rooms highly recommend the trip to others.

* * *

CLOTHING CLASSES

As the semester draws to a close for the ninth graders in Miss Henrietta Foster's, the girls have a lovely display of completed work. Each girl in the ninth grade has made a pair of pajamas and a cotton dress. The girls select their own pattern and materials after a thorough study of fabrics, beauty of dress as to color and line.

* * *

TEAM TOPS RECORD

An eighth grade girl's speed ball team has loomed into existence at Lathrop which is breaking all previous records. There are many of the smallest girls in school on the team and so far they are cleaning up all the teams they encounter. Andronickie Pappas and Ruth Nelson, for their size, are the star players on this famous eighth grade team. They have been playing ninth grade teams, winning one game by a large margin and losing one by a single point. They have one more game in their ninth grade schedule to play and much enthusiasm is already being expressed in the game for next Thursday. The team is under the direction of Miss Hazel Thrasher.

'TURN A NEW LEAF'

With the close of the first semester at the end of this week, the majority of the students (in view of report cards and with their parents' suggestions!) are making their semi-annual resolutions to make a bigger and better start for the next semester.

The detailed reports are being sent home by the students in which the teachers have made an effort to evaluate the work and citizenship. After much time and effort on the teachers' part in making out these reports, it is hoped the parents will respond accordingly.

PLAY NIGHT

January Play Night scored a big point over previous ninth grade play nights last Thursday when nearly 100 were present at the Y building. This occasion which meets one night a month for ninth graders offers an unusually lovely get-together for all sorts of group games and ballroom dancing. There is a 10 cent charge for each attending to defray expenses of the building and equipment used in the games such as table tennis, quoits, and other entertaining group games.

Play Night was started last year in conjunction with the P.-T. A., the Y. W. C. A., Girl Reserves and the school. Besides the games last week there was a floor show consisting of vocal numbers by the Lathrop girls' trio including Beverly Short, Betty Haynes, and Mary Ruth McDougall. Mr. Daniel Stover of the music department had charge of other musical numbers which were greatly appreciated. Those chaperoning the affair last week included Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Menzie, Mrs. Deardoff, Mrs. Faupel, Mrs. Smith, and Miss Nora Reid.

SPEECH CLASS PROGRAM

Tuesday evening the members of the Lathrop P.-T. A. enjoyed a unique entertainment in form of a symposium from Mrs. Margarite Hill's speech class.

The subject carried out was "Youth and Character Building" in which the following ideas were especially stressed: living together happily, broader knowledge, tolerance, valuable use of leisure, developing leadership. Those taking part were Forest Menzie, chairman; representatives of the various organizations, Margaret Power for Junior Literary club; Boy Scouts, Don Metz and Jack Eller; boys' Service Club, Walter McFarlane and Eugene Frisby; World Friendship Club, Rebecca McProud.

Tangelos Are Luscious, Citrus Grower Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The tangelo—a cross between tangerine and grapefruit—is the fruit with a future, says E. J. Deakin, Miami citrus grower.

"Anyone having tasted a tree-ripened tangelo," he declares, "with all the tangerine-orange flavor plus the odd but rather faint bitter taste of grapefruit, and also its inner texture, will be forever weaned away from the usual run of fruit consumed previously."

Tangelos have been grown in small quantities but have not been widely marketed.

"Holy Bartender" Warns Customers Against Drinking

VANCOUVER, B. C. (American Wire)—A smiling Japanese, who is believed to be the world's only "holy bartender," is in port here today, aboard the Heian Maru.

He is Kanemori Tsuno, a high Shinto priest, who quotes religious philosophy as he deftly swipes off the bar. Besides tending bar, his official duties include blessing all the food of the captain and crew

A teetotaller, as he serves martinis, Tsuno warns each passenger of the dangers of drink.

U. S. FLEET TO CHANGE COMMANDS

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—The men behind the guns of the United States fleet will change top commands tomorrow in a series of historic ceremonies aboard flagships at San Pedro and San Diego.

No. 1 job is commander in chief, which Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn will turn over to Admiral Claude C. Bloch and go ashore to command the 12th naval district.

Previously, Admiral Bloch will have been relieved as commander of the battle force by Vice Admiral E. C. Kalbfus.

Vice Admiral Kalbfus' post as commander of battleships will be taken by Rear Admiral J. W. Greenslade, who will be succeeded as commander of battleship division two by Rear Admiral C. R. Train.

A. Blakely will relieve Rear Ad-A. Blakely wil rellieve Rear Admiral E. J. King, commander of scouting force aircraft squadrons, who will advance in rank to vice admiral and relieve Vice Admiral F. J. Horne as commander of the battle force aircraft.

FIVE PERSONS LOST IN GALES

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras. (AP) Five persons were known to have perished and other lives were feared lost yesterday in gales that battered Atlantic shipping.

Two schooners were wrecked, and it was believed many other smaller craft had foundered in terrific storms off Honduras east coast.

Three men, a woman and a child were drowned when the schooner Claudia sank. One passenger and seven of the crew survived.

All aboard the schooner Walker, except the captain and one member of the crew, were lost when the vessel went down off La Ceiba. It was not known how many were drowned or whether the ship carried passengers.

'We Wuz Robbed' Sez the Devil

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Prof. Burke Johnston of the University of Alabama English department can put the punch of 20th century vernacular into his literature interpretations.

He read to his class from Milton's "Paradise Lost" how Satan, reclining on a bed of molten sulphur, tried to explain to Beelzebub why they lost their battle with the angels and were evicted from heaven. And then the professor's explanation:

"It's all very simple. All the devil says in 25 lines is, "We put up a good fight but we wuz robbed.'"

Finds Stoutness Aids to Selling

LONDON. (American Wire)—You are more likely to have salesmanship ability of you are inclined toward stoutness, in the opinion of F. V. Mitchell, British scientist. His investigations showed that most successful sales managers have smooth, full faces, short necks and a tendency to stoutness, he reported.

NEWS OF ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

G. G. STREET PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

GARDEN GROVE. — A beautification program for principal streets of this community through planting of flowers was planned by members of the civic committee of the Woman's Civic club when they met with their chairman, Mrs. C. C. Violett, for luncheon on Wednesday.

The proposed plan is to plant flowers in parking areas on all streets if possible but especially the most traveled ones. Citizens and civic organizations will be asked for their cooperation.

Chairmen named to arrange the program for the various streets are Mrs. H. Berman, sr., for Garden Grove boulevard; Mrs. E. J. Tobias for Acacia street, and Mrs. H. E. Mills of Stanford avenue. They will appoint members of their committee and other chairmen will be named at another meeting to be held soon.

PAIR ADDRESS MESA LIONS

COSTA MESA. —Horace O. Ensign, Newport school principal, and David Sherry, faculty member, recent contest speakers at the Santa Ana Toastmasters' club, gave a repeat performance of the talks they used in the recent word battle before the Costa Mesa-Newport Harbor Lions club Tuesday.

The topic of Ensign's talk was "Who's Responsibility?" and Sherry talked on "So What?" The speakers were presented by Willard Minor, program chairman for the day.

Three new members, R. P. Tillotson, the Rev. Harold J. Smith and Anton Wacek, all of Costa Mesa, were inducted by Dr. C. G. Huston. Reports on the Pomona banquet were given by Harold K. Grauel and Heinz Kaiser.

Merriment and fellowship hit a new high with the arrival of W. H. Foord, Henry Vaughn, Eddie Moore, Earl Volberding, Dr. Ralph Hoard, Harold Grauel, Heinz Kaiser and Bruce Anderson, aboard a hay wagon, drawn by a team of mules. The group was ushered in by music from Charley Lippmann's accordion.

Lippmann also gave other musical selections during the luncheon. The Rev. Mr. Smith was officially appointed sky pilot for the organization. Announcement was made of the annual Lions' ladies' night to be observed with a dinner dance Feb. 15, in the Costa Mesa clubhouse.

Church Sponsors 'Whoopee' Event

Fishing Boat Opens 'Summer' Season at Port

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Summer must be here!

Warm weather and swarms of fish in the ocean have brought an announcement from D. W. King that he is going to start running a live bait boat Sunday, instead of waiting until late spring, which is the usual custom.

King's famed "Valencia," known to thousands of Southland anglers, will leave Newport pier at 8 a. m. Sunday, he said today. If the response is what he expects, King will run a daily boat during fair weather.

Local waters are fairly alive with huge bonita, he reported today, the fish averaging more than nine pounds. Bass fishing also has been excellent.

CHAPTER 19

"The bracelet was gone?" Merrie repeated blankly.

"But, Curt, she put it in the box and tied the string. I saw her. Where did she stop? Have you any idea ?"

For no reason at all Merrie's knees threatened to give way, and she sat down.

Perhaps she was a bit fed up with mysterious robberies. It might have been that, but it was more like a premonition.

"We didn't stop at all—came straight home," Curt was saying. "The box was never out of—Gwen's hands. She's having hysterics and I can't do anything with her. Merrie—"

"Yes." Now it was coming. An unknown something, a dreadful something which froze her blood.

"Merrie—she's out of her mind—I've argued myself black in the face—she insists you took her bracelet."

HOLD EVERYTHING

It was out, the dreadful, lurking thing. "I?" Merrie gasped. "Curt, you know I never stole anything in my life."

"Don't I know it? You needn't tell me that." He turned from the telephone to shout, "Gwen—where are you going, Gwen? Come back here."

And again to Merrie, "She's gone. I imagine she's heading for your place, and I'll follow along. Better see her, Merrie. Maybe you can make her see reason. Hold everything until I get there."

Merrie sat for a long time with the instrument in her hand. She could hear the rattle of dishes in the kitchen. What had become of Gwen's valuable bracelet?

Carefully she searched the chairs, pulling out loose cushions, running her hands down into the upholstery. After looking in every possible hiding place, she questioned Emma.

"Did you see anything of an amber bracelet?" she asked.

"I saw Miss Rawson showing it to you." Emma did not turn around, and Merrie regarded the back of her head with a troubled frown. So many queer things had happened.

Who could she trust? She knew nothing of Emma. For that matter she knew nothing of Jim. The fact that Gordon VanVleet had introduced her to Curt gave her confidence in him. In spite of that confidence she felt desperately alone and frightened.

"The bracelet is missing. Miss Rawson has lost it. She's coming here to hunt," Merrie explained in a worried little voice. "She—she thinks I took it, Emma."

EYES SHOOT FIRE

"Stuff and nonsense." Emma lifted her hands from the pan of suds. "I'll take a look." Merrie absent mindedly wiped cups and spoons while Emma stirred around in the living room.

"The bracelet isn't here," she announced, coming back to wash the cocktail shaker. Merrie dropped a cup when the bell rang. She hurried to answer the door.

"Gwen," she said. "I'm so sorry. Come in, won't you?"

Gwen came in. She slammed the door and leaned against it, panting. Her eyes shot fire, her lips were drawn into a furious line.

"Give it to me," she demanded. "Give me my bracelet."

"I can't give it to you, Gwen." Merrie shook her head sorrowfully. "I wish I could."

"You can—you can— You stole my priceless bracelet—"

Merrie tried to remain calm, but the accusation infuriated her.

"I haven't your bracelet," she said. "You are at liberty to search this apartment but you will not find it."

"I know your game," Peachy hissed. "You hide behind a smirk and live by your wits. Your ring and your car disappeared like my bracelet.

"They never belonged to you—they were stolen property—I'll bet my best hat you have checks in your purse this minute for the two of them."

ASSUMED RAGE

"You were with me when I bought the ring," Merrie put in icily.

"Just part of your sneaking game. A way to get my confidence so you could prey upon me—" Peachy was quite beside herself with well-assumed rage.

"But you can't get away with it. Hand over my bracelet or I'll call the police. They are waiting outside your door with a search warrant. I want my Empress Josephine bracelet, and I intend to have it."

Merrie tossed her head. "All right," she said. "Call in the law. I didn't take your bracelet and I'm not afraid of the entire police department."

At this instant there was a great pounding on the door, the bell rang furiously.

"Merrie—Gwen—open the door." Curt looking harassed to the point of frenzy burst in as Merrie opened the door. He went straight to her. "I'm so sorry—so ashamed. Gwen is excited, not herself."

"This fool won't give me my bracelet," Peachy complained shrilly. "Make her give it up, Curt. I want my $40,000 bracelet."

"How can she give it to you when she hasn't it?" he asked in reasonable tone.

"She does have it. This is the only place where I opened the box." Peachy whirled on Merrie. "I'll give you just two minutes. If you don't come across I'll have the joint searched."

Peachy had lost her elegant manners. With the situation well in hand, and the need for caution past, she reverted to the mulatto girl from Harlem. Her eyes blazed, they were piercing black flames.

"Now, Gwen—"

"Keep out of this, Curt," she snapped. "I said I'd murder anyone who stole my bracelet, but I think I'll let the law take its course."

"How do you think you'll like spending five years behind the bars, Merrie Drake?"

SEARCH WARRANT

"Go on and search," said Merrie.

Peachy flung open the door and two stalwart policemen entered.

"May I see the search warrant?" Merrie asked. One of the men produced it. The other wandered to the bedroom door.

"She's all ready to fly," he said.

"See?—I told you," Peachy shrilled.

"Don't be impetuous, Gwen," Curt warned. "If you should happen to be wrong—"

"But I'm not wrong." The look she blazed into Curt's eyes said, "How'm I doing?" He nodded soberly.

"We'll start with the trunk and bags," one of the officers said. "That's where we'll find the stuff. She's all ready to make a clean getaway."

It took some time. Merrie sat in a big chair, her head thrown back, hands folded loosely in her lap. She was the picture of unconcern.

Curt sat near her, his head bowed as if in shame. Occasionally he spoke to her, but she made no answer.

Peachy paced up and down the room. She had a swinging, graceful movement, she was like a stalking animal. She smoked fruiously and muttered to herself.

WANTS TO SCREAM

"Nothing there," a policeman announced, coming out of the bedroom. He examined Merrie's coat, ran his hand into the pockets and felt through the lining.

Her hat he carefully inspected, gloves and purse. Merrie wanted to scream and throw things.

Minutely they covered the room until there was nothing remaining except the desk. Both officers went to it.

Curt patted Merrie's folded hands. She got an impression that he was holding his breath.

"Is there a secret drawer in this desk?" one of the men asked.

"I believe you are doing the searching," Merrie said smoothly.

LUCKY ACCIDENT . . .

You've heard of people stumbling right into fortunes. Clarence Warner did that, in 1900, when he sprained his ankle and sat down on the biggest copper mine in the world while out looking for gold.

Warner and Jack Smith, prospectors, were members of a gold-hunting syndicate of 11 men who were lured to the Yukon in the whirlwind gold rush of 1898 and 1899. The two men were selected to operate over the Chitina river district in search of the yellow metal. The other nine covered different territory, and all were to divide whatever they found.

At the end of a fruitless summer of prospecting, in 1900, Warner and Smith headed back toward a predetermined meeting place. The two men swung down a dry wash, over ground covered with stones worn round by water. Warner's foot slipped on one of these, and with a groan he doubled on the ground.

There was nothing to do but camp there for a while until Warner's ankle, badly sprained, was well enough to carry him. The prospectors noticed a green patch nearby and, to kill time, went over and examined it. It was copper ore.

The two men excitedly stumbled farther downstream and found more green ore. Finally they traced the telltale stones to their source—an outcropping of the world's largest copper deposit, 70 miles long and 20 miles wide!

SLANT WELLS HELD ILLEGAL

SACRAMENTO. (AP) — Slant drilling which taps oil supplies in adjoining territory is illegal, the third district court of appeals ruled today.

The decision reverses a Los Angeles superior court and vitally concerns the state which has had to recover through negotiated agreements great quantities of oil taken by private companies through slant drilling.

The court ordered back for retrial the suit of Alphonzo E. Bell corporation against the Bell View Oil syndicate which had been won by the latter company upon a sustained demurrer. Three companion suits were involved in the decision.

Ten Goals for the U. S. A.

What do we want for America?

One set of answers to this question comes from the National Education association which has a committee working on social and economic objectives for the nation.

Here are the 10 goals which the teachers have decided are what "thoughtful Americans" want for themselves and their children:

1. Hereditary strength—that everyone shall be well-born under conditions that will conserve his innate strengths and capacities.

2. Physical security—that everyone shall be protected against accident and disease.

3. Culture-skills and knowledges—that every individual shall master those skills and knowledges that will enable him to use and enjoy the culture of the group.

4. Culture-values and outlooks—that everyone shall be put in possession of the values, standards, and outlooks that reflect the experience of the race.

5. An active, flexible personality—that everyone shall have such opportunities as will foster initiative, ability to meet new problems, weigh facts, resist prejudice, and to act co-operatively.

6. Suitable occupation—that everyone shall enjoy the sense of being useful that honest labor brings, shall be enabled to use his skill where it will mean most to himself and society.

7. Economic security—that everyone shall enjoy a minimum income that will provide a reasonable standard of living.

8. Mental security—that everyone, especially in childhood and adolescence, shall have affection, toleration, and understanding of life needs that will foster the best development of personality.

9. Freedom—that everyone shall enjoy the widest freedom that is compatible with the equal freedom of others.

10. Fair play and equal opportunity—that everyone shall act and expect others to act in conformity with the highest good of all.

What is your view of this program? Would it mean a happier, fuller life for you?

America's teachers, in our opinion, have offered an attractive and valuable set of goals. Trends in the past few years, we believe, have tended to bring some of them true.

"King David was always upheld by the Lord," preaches an up-state minister. Usually, usually. There was a bit of hiatus where David was paying attention to Mrs. Uriah, that time.

City Will Get Needed Planner

City council is at work in earnest in getting an expert planning consultant to tackle our many municipal problems, and that's a good thing.

Three qualified men are under consideration, we understand, and the council may announce its decision shortly.

The important objective is to get a planner with vision big enough to see what Santa Ana is growing toward, with skill enough to work out a program that will fit also into the county picture, and with technical knowledge sufficient to put it into effect.

This community has a great future, and Santa Ana is going to grow even if the planning situation is bobbled through the years to come like it has been in those past.

But a wise and sensible program of putting streets where they should be, of establishing adequate and well-distributed parks, of additional forestry and planting, and of zoning to protect residential property will do a lot to ease future development and keep down the growing pains.

The Journal is confident that the city dads will do a good job of picking a man to give Santa Ana the planning guidance it needs.

Washington information bureau informs that muskrat meat is most palatable. So, perhaps, is skunk meat, but our palate stays miles away from it.

Eating Ourselves to Prosperity

There should be lots of beans on the menu this year with the largest crop in history—1,500,000,000 pounds—on hand.

Fortunately most of us like beans, and besides that they are mighty nourishing. Here is a comment on that line from Vernon C. Heil, local rancher, who is vice-chairman of the California bean growers committee:

The bean, sometimes overlooked in the general study of diet, offers, on an absolute basis, one of the finest foods. On the basis of food value and cost, it is outstandingly one of the best buys for the American dinner table. Its caloric content to the pound is 1565. This is exceeded by only a very few foods, and those that do exceed it are higher in price. It is rich in protein, fat and carbohydrates, and contains all of the essential minerals—calcium, phosphorus, iron, potassium and sodium. It contains vitamins A and G in normal quantities, and vitamin B in double ratio.

That's a real record for the bean, and most of us will be happy to help eat up the surplus so the growers can get back to prosperity again.

That 42-inch husband of the 76-inch woman might be relying on the Bible's promise that all the mountains shall be leveled.

Amending Principles

It is not encouraging to any taxpayer, large or small, to note the increasing sentiment in congress for a plan to "spend our way out of the recession."

The old natural law against bootstrap lifting seems to have gone out of style. It is amended so that the bootstraps are detachable and can be lifted easily without the least inconvenience to either the boots or the inhabitant thereof.

Okayama, Japan's medical college, is to give courses in gas. Our congress answers the purpose.

FAIR Enough

Income Tax Boys Dodge 'Hot One'

By Westbrook Pegler

Here is another case in which the bureau of internal revenue lifts its cap to a hot one and lets it go by without even making a pass at the ball.

The present income tax law exempts religious bodies, provided that no substantial part of their activities is carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation.

A week ago a dispatch from Albany reported that Bishop F. Gibbons of the Catholic diocese of Albany had written to all members of the New York legislature urging them to oppose ratification of the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution. This was a frank, open effort to influence legislation, but there is no reason to believe that an attempt will be made to declare the exemption void.

This law reads substantially as follows:

"Corporations, and any community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes, no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation."

The proviso against propaganda and attempts by other means to influence legislation was adopted in 1934. Its intent is plain, but its definitions are fuzzy. It plainly means just what it says, but the word "substantial" is the fire escape down which the treasury flees from an embarrassing task.

* * *

SHUT HIS MOUTH

In Washington some months ago I asked one of the most expert experts in the bureau of internal revenue if this little amendment would be enforced if a religious organization were shown to have attempted to influence legislation on divorce or child labor in New York. He had been speaking freely on other phases of the income tax, but at this point he clamped his jaws, shook his head and would not say "aye," "yes" or "no."

Later I put the same question to a treasury official of much higher rank, and he threw up his hands in a manner which indicated that the question was loaded with dynamite.

Today, in New York, an expert in the internal revenue service consented to discuss the case of Bishop Gibbons' letter to the legislators, but preferred that his name be not mentioned. He began like a lawyer for the defense—a strange attitude in a revenue man whose policy, in dealing with individuals and corporations, is to attack the taxpayer and disallow all claims which permit of the slightest doubt.

He first suggested that perhaps Bishop Gibbons had acted not as bishop but as an individual citizen, but yielded that ground when it was argued that as an individual his influence would be negligible, and that, moreover, it would be more in character for the bureau to assume that he was acting officially and require proof to the contrary.

* * *

HOW MUCH IS 'SUBSTANTIAL'

The discussion then boiled down to a question of the meaning of the word "substantial!" There was also a slight question whether the diocese is a corporation, fund or foundation, but he thought it did come within the meaning of the act and the intent of congress. But he said that if the case were to come before him he would decide in favor of the diocese and uphold the exemption on the ground that the writing of these letters by the bishop in an open attempt to influence legislation did not constitute a substantial part of the activities of the diocese itself. Even though the intent of congress to abate such influence were defeated, he would stand on his own generous interpretation of the word "substantial."

The child labor amendment is highly controversial, but I do not attempt to involve it in this discussion.

My point is that if a private individual or a corporation were to rub so close against the law the bureau would not wait for any third person to raise the question whether the exemption had been forfeited or search for reasons to preserve the exemption regardless. The bureau would take the initiative, would fight like hell and drag the taxpayer through laborious, expensive and possibly humiliating appeals and, in the end, would certainly decide the case against him.

It is merely another example of the whimsical and political interpretation of the income tax law by a department operating under the motto: "The income tax law means what the internal revenue says it means."

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

One reason I came to the city was because I wanted to get away from the nosey gossipers of a small town. They told me that in a big city everybody minds his and her own business.

The other day I was callin' on a city lady here and I noticed a family was movin' in next door. So I says "What do you think of the new family movin' in?" and she says "I ain't a woman that talks about my neighbors."

She says "All I know is that their stuff come in one truck. They only had one bedstead with brass on it and most of the furniture looks old. There's six in the family. The children are all boys and they had a fight with the truck driver when they settled with him and their name is Smith."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Roosevelt reversed price policy to help Lewis in steel negotiations; CIO union would have to take wage cut if price of steel should drop; license renewal of WLW decided solely by commissioner who fought it; brain trust wasn't "nut trio"; Sutherland quit court's 10-hour day.

WASHINGTON. — Real reason for the President's announcement that he is still trying to raise prices to 1926 levels was not the reason he gave publicly in explanation of the startling statement.

He justified his shift from his recent repeated complaints that prices are too high and retarding recovery, by saying that he had been referring to the prices of raw materials, such as copper. However, it was steel, not copper, that prodded him into coming out for 1926 price levels, and behind this, in turn, was a desire to do something for John L. Lewis.

On February 8, the CIO steel union opens negotiations with U. S. Steel on a new contract. The union will seek a renewal of its present wage scale with the argument that steel prices continue at a high peak. But should the price of steel break, the union would almost certainly have to take a wage cut.

The logic of this situation was very vigorously impressed on Roosevelt by Lewis during their conference several weeks ago.

"All this talk about prices being too high," the CIO boss said, "is threatening the country's wage structure. If you reduce prices it is going to come out of the hide of labor. What the country needs is not price cuts but increased purchasing power."

So, despite the opposition of some Brain Trusters, the President went to bat for his biggest vote deliverer.

UNION HOURS

Justice George Sutherland was explaining to an old friend the reason for his retirement from the bench.

"Few people realize," he said, "how hard members of the Court work. A 10-hour day is not unusual. I found I couldn't keep that pace any longer, and rather than retard the work of the Court I decided to make way for a younger and stronger man."

"Well, George," said the friend, smiling, "I think you missed a bet on the 10-hour business. You should have called in the CIO and organized the court to obtain shorter hours and better working conditions."

BIGGEST RADIO STATION

It looks as if Charley Michelson, publicity solon of the Democratic National committee, will have a chance to earn the salary he has been drawing from Crosley radio, operators of WLW, Cincinnati, biggest broadcasting station in the country.

Through a sheer freak of fate, the question of whether its 500,000-watt license shall be renewed has been placed in the hands of WLW's chief enemy on the Federal Communications commission, George Henry Payne.

About a year ago, Commissioner Payne fired a barrage of embarrassing questions at Powel Crosley, president of the radio company, asking what profits WLW made and why it should enjoy a more privileged status than other stations. Payne at that time was not on the broadcasting division of the FCC, and Crosley never answered his questions.

Now, however, the commission is rotating its different duties among the commissioners, and last week it became Payne's sole duty to pass on whether WLW shall have a six months extension of its powerful license.

Payne is scheduling hearings on the matter, which in itself is unprecedented. Usually the license has been renewed as a routine matter.

TRAFFIC DEMON

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, witty Massachusetts congresswoman who is sponsoring a bill for a national traffic law, tells this story to illustrate the need for such legislation:

Receiving a telephone call that a friend had been seriously injured in a smash-up, she rushed to the hospital, where she found her friend conscious but badly bent.

"What happened?" Mrs. Rogers asked.

"Well, I was . . ." the friend started to say, when the nurse interrupted:

"I'll tell you. He tried to save three minutes going downtown and now he will be with us for three months."

NUTS OR BRAINS

Adolfe Berle, member of the President's reviving Brain Trust, was scheduled to give a radio broadcast some time ago and rushed to keep his appointment at 10:45 p. m. Arriving at the National Broadcasting studio in New York, together with Brain Truster Rex Tugwell and Jerome Frank, now SEC commissioner, Berle told the man at the desk:

"I am A. A. Berle and I'm going to broadcast at 10:45."

"Sorry," said the reception clerk, looking over the radio program for the evening, "but your name is not down here."

"Absurd," remonstrated Berle, "absolutely absurd. Almost as inefficient as your agriculture department, Rex."

"The program at 10:45 is the 'Nut Trio'," replied the reception clerk, looking at the three Brain Trusters. "Is that who you are?"

Finally Berle's friends had him look at the written notification of his broadcast and found that it was scheduled for the Columbia Broadcasting System, not NBC. They jumped in a taxi and arrived at Columbia just in time.

HAGUE'S MAN

Several days before coming to Washington to take his Senate seat, John Milton, henchman and personal lawyer of Mayor Frank (I-am-the-law) Hague, attended a large luncheon meeting in New York city.

The conversation at his table turned on Capital personages, and Milton asked the man sitting next to him: "What kind of a fellllow is John Lewis?" Is he really on the square, or is he out for himself?"

"Lewis a very sincere and honest man," was the reply. "When he says something he means it."

"Well," boomed Milton, "personally, I'm a Hague man."

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Has any child ever continued to believe in Santa Claus after seeing a few of the department store variety?

WORRIED PARENT.

Nope. Seeing department store Santa Clauses only makes the youngsters feel sorry for them. As my little nephew, Algie, remarked the day he saw one Santa's padding slip, "Well, Uncle Judgey, either that guy's a phoney or Santa Claus has an upset stomach today." STUMP.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

COUNTY HOSPITAL

To the Editor: We cannot be satisfied with county hospitals as long as they are tied up with politics and profits.

I would like to be able to agree with a letter in this column recently, but for one to say that people "should be MADE to appreciate these wonderful privileges they get for nothing" shows a great lack of understanding.

My contacts have been with the aged women in a large ward, who when taken there have deeded to the hospital real estate or insurance they may have owned. In one case I knew two houses and lots were given. I have never seen more patience shown, more gratefulness, for any bit of kindness, with the old women apologetic for complaining or making trouble, feeling they are not wanted, and every one will be glad when they go. Utterly helpless, some have lain for several years, not able to give themselves a drink. Such foods as boiled cabbage, dry beans, salmon as it comes from the can have been given them to eat. I have found my friend lying flat, when pillows were required to make her comfortable, was told by her and some one near, that a nurse had taken them away to punish her, having been "mad" because she had required more attention than she liked.

I saw the same person literally jerk a woman upon her pillows, having been asked to make her more comfortable. Without a glance she walked away. I stepped over to adjust and straighten as best I could, she smiled and said, "Oh, she knows how when she wants to."

I have gone away thinking that trapped animals would be given as much attention, being in the richest county in the U. S. we must not be too proud of the care we give our helpless brothers and sisters.

Of course temporary and curable cases are a different story, but these fine old folks who are taken there to end their days, should receive as good food and treatment.

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Incredibly fine is the star dust which endlessly pelts the earth.

Star dust is made up of meteors. A thousand million meteors fall into the earth's atmosphere each 24 hours, according to the most recent studies, which are published in the Telescope, of Harvard observatory, by Fletcher Watson.

Lumped together, this thousand million daily meteors, he estimates, would weigh only 150 pounds. This means that most of them would have to be looked for with a microscope.

Driving through space at 40 to 50 miles a second this star dust might not seem soft to a human hand thrust outside the atmosphere, but against celestial bodies it has no punch.

It requires telescopes and the clear nights of high Arizona altitudes to detect these smaller meteors. Those that make a flash the eye can see may be no larger than a grain of dust. Occasionally one weighs several pounds. Rarely is one of many tons recorded. Watson concludes that all the meteors falling since the earth was formed have not increased its girth by more than an inch.

NEW YORK.—Artistic quirks: A. B. Frost, dean of the rural delineators, worked best in an old Pasadena barn filled with junk. Howard Chandler Christy was once pronounced incurably blind. Today he does not even wear glasses at his work. Herb Roth is huskiest of the pen and ink sketchers.

Fay King has been a cartoonist for 25 years, one of the few women to continue so long and ably at the drawing board. Vic Forsythe is also a fine painter. He lives on a ranch and wears cowboy costumes. Cliff McBride has a St. Bernard dog that goes with him everywhere.

Gus Edson, who now draws the "Gumps," is double-jointed and twists into all sorts of positions at the drawing board. Frank Willard, the "Moon Mullins" man, no matter how hot the weather, wears a sweater and leather jacket. H. T. Webster spends six months a year in Florida fishing.

Jimmy Swinnerton spends most of his time with Navajo Indians painting the desert. Clare "Dwig" Dwiggins hates to comb his hair. Gene Ahern always just beats the deadline with his stuff, while Bob Brinkerhoff once got enough Mary Mixup strips ahead to circle the globe.

Harry O'Neill, who draws "Broncho Bill," has never been west of the Mississippi, and Al Capp, who draws hill-billy stuff, has never been in the southern mountains. George Herriman, "Krazy Cat" artist, once told his employers they paid him too much and to cut his salary. They did!

The busiest mid-town telephone switchboard is at Joe Leblang's cut rate ticket agency just before curtain time. Next to the Major Bowes amateur vote during his broadcasts, the calls are swiftest at Leblang's, one of the few agencies to ride out the theater slump. Third on the list of busy exchanges in the Times Square area is the Astor at the cocktail hour. Further east the most popular meeting places are the Waldorf and Savoy-Plaza bars.

Conde Nast is the most expert of the town's gadabouts. Although the hard-working head of a vast publishing business, he finds time to be everywhere and see everything. And with all appears to be the youngest gentleman for his years hereabouts. One of the few original New Yorkers, he is 63, and has a daughter 37 and one 7. There is scarcely a night in the year he is not in dinner jacket or white tie at some affair in a private home or restaurant or at the opera of play. Once or twice a year he goes abroad, and in London and Paris, where he is equally well known, keeps up the same social rigamarole. And always looks as fresh as the proverbial daisy.

Most Manhattan oldsters who try to maintain the pace after middle years have the unhealthy shine of a cicatrix. They dodder about, trying to look all merry and bright, and suggesting George Arliss in one of his elderly roles. At first nights, some are often gently snoring at the drop of the first curtain. Living symbols of the amusing line in Ivor Novella's London hit: Chin up, white tie for dinner, and carry on!

Sinclair Lewis and his wife, Dorothy Thompson, are neck and neck in lecture tour popularity. Each is in high demand, having far more invitations than they can fill. John Mason Brown, the dramatic critic, is another of the popular platform talkers. Lecture bureau pay runs from $100 to $800 an appearance, plus expenses. Most established lecturers enjoy the actual work, but soon become fed up with the social demands that have become almost an inevitable part of the tour—receptions, teas, luncheons, dinners and talking to bores.

Incidentally, the mid-Victorian quartet is again attaining favor, not only on the radio, in vaudeville and movies, but as a part of the lecture olio. Today those favorite old standbys, The Avon Comedy Four, That Quartette and other fixtures in vaudeville could get solid booking over the lecture trails. And the songs the new generation as well as the old enjoy hearing most are the ancient familiars, "By the Old Mill Stream," "Sweet Adeline" and such. The quartet is a study in wish fulfillment. Almost every man has a secret desire to blend his voice in harmony, even though he may not be able to sing a note. One of my unfulfilled ambitions was quartetting. I always wanted to be the Morton Downey tenor on the left who stepped forth and twisted his cap into a ball trying to reach a high note.

"No; they're always that way. When he proposed he just held out a diamond ring and said "Eh?" and she looked at it and said, "Uh-huh."—Grit.
